New Probe Will Range Beyond Pueblo Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new Pueblo study ordered by Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird will range beyond the case of the espionage vessel to probe "thoroughly all existing policies and procedures related to such intelligence efforts."

This wide-ranging charter was spelled out in a memorandum from Laird to his Deputy, David Packard, setting the study in motion.

The brief memo was made available after Laird announced Thursday at his first news conference as secretary of defense that he had assigned Packard the job.

The Nixon administration's Pentagon chief also handed Packard the huge task of reviewing in depth the Johnson administration's $79 billion Defense burget for the coming fiscal year.

These actions strengthened the impression that Packard will shoulder much of the detailed Pentagon work, leaving Laird free for "big picture" thinking and advising President Nixon.

Laird said objectives of the Pueblo review, which may take weeks, are these:

—To study "the whole matter of the role of this kind of craft . . . and the protection of this kind of ship if such a role is necessary at any time in the future so that we will not have these incidents again."

—To make sure that "the rights of all individuals are protected at all times, and to see that they are and have been in this case."

The defense secretary voiced no criticism of a Navy court of inquiry now taking testimony in the capture of the intelligence ship Pueblo by North Korea a year ago.

Some critics in Congress and elsewhere have charged that the Navy is out to make Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, skipper of the Pueblo, a scapegoat—a charge denied by Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, the Navy's chief.

There also has been considerable public criticism that the Pueblo was permitted to operate in waters off hostile North Korea without naval warship or air protection, and that she was left unaided when the North Koreans moved in on the Pueblo Jan. 23, 1968.

Defense sources said Packard will conduct a "A to Z review" starting with such fundamental questions as: "Should we have these ships doing this job?"

The guess is that the answer will be affirmative—Defense officials have contended virtually unanimously that this, among other, means of gathering intelligence on hostile or potentially hostile powers is essential to U.S. security.

One major prod behind Laird's order for a study was an indication by Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., that his Senate Arms Services Committee intends to investigate the Pueblo case. The new Defense team wants to be ready.

On other matter, Laird:

—Said he would be traveling to South Vietnam "in the not too distant future" to examine the military situation, which he described as somewhat improved over the past 12 months.

—Voiced hope that "we are in a better position this year than we were last year to deal with" a major offensive, such as the enemy launched during the lunar New Year a year ago.

—Backed up President Nixon's preference for the term "sufficiency" rather than "superiority" in spelling out this administration's goal in military strength compared with the Soviet Union or any other potential enemy.

However, Laird said "I am not giving up the idea of maintaining a superior force."

Freeway Ramp Seen Hazard

'To Yield Or Not To Yield'

By ROBERT POPP

But when a modern - day David meets a jet age Goliath in the traffic pattern where an access ramp joins the Freeway at the W. 8th St. bridge, the little fellow oftentimes must swerve aside or come to a halt to avoid being smashed.

David in this case is the driver of an outbound auto intending to head across the bridge that spans W. 8th St. and then turn right onto the "off ramp" to continue toward Wellsville.

And Goliath is a big truck, usually a tractor - trailer rig, moving on the ramp that leads from W. 8th St. near Jefferson St. to give access to an outbound lane of the Freeway.

IN THIS modern day parable, Goliath knows he need not stop for the "Yield" sign at the intersection, even in the face of oncoming traffic, because little David (the auto) will avoid a collision with the tractor - trailer at all costs — no matter who has the legal right - of - way.

Truckers who use the access ramp know well just how carefully David will maneuver to keep out of their way. As a result many — but not all — pull onto the Freeway insolently without reducing speed and seemingly with never a glance for approaching auto traffic.

That particular intersection has done more to raise motorists' blood pressure and test their brakes, tires and self-restraint than any other junction in the city.

The "Yield" sign is the standard control device for the point where an access ramp meets a limited access highway. But many of the truckers, fighting their way up the grade of the ramp with several gear changes, diesels howling and black smoke spouting, are in no mood to go through another series of gear changes just because they stopped for a passenger car where it's possible to bluff one's way through. As a result, a high percentage of the big rigs don't even slow for the junction.

AT THE POINT where the Freeway bridge spans W. 8th St., there are two inbound lanes, a metal guard rail fence, then two outbound lanes, and a long, narrow concrete obstacle, parallel with the traffic lanes, which separates the through traffic from the vehicles intending to turn off the Freeway via a ramp toward W. 8th St. and those entering the Freeway from the ramp leading from W. 8th St.

The space nearest the north bridge railing, which appears wider than one lane but not wide enough for two vehicles, is known in the engineer's parlance as an acceleration and deceleration lane. That means it's to be used for slowing on the part of traffic using the Freeway — which meanwhile keeps to the far right — and for traffic entering the Freeway to achieve a standard highway speed before merging with the outbound lanes.

When a big rig zooms through the yield sign into the acceleration lane — usually keeping to the extreme right — there often still is room for a car headed for the exit ramp to pass the rig on the left. But the trouble is that the auto must cross the right - hand lane

Power-ful Problem!

When Zoning Inspector Marvin Wooley flips the wall switch in his office, the lights go out in the women's restroom, about 15 feet away!

The freak occurrence was discovered this morning. As they say in government circles when they've got a baffling problem, this one is "under advisement."

Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey was given a complaint on the erratic behavior of the lights in the second floor ladies' room. The subsequent investigation showed the freak inter - action of the two independent lighting systems.

12 Injured, One Critically, In Blast At Marietta Plant

MARIETTA, Ohio (AP) — With a boom that sounded "like a clap of thunder" a vat at the Union Carbide Corp. plastics and chemicals plant blew its lid Thursday, injuring 12 workers, one critically and four seriously.

"It was bad, real bad," said David Lewis of Belpre, one of the injured men, Lewis was overcome by heavy fumes that covered the area immediately after the blast but was released after treatment at a Parkersburg, W. Va., hospital.

"It's a miracle someone wasn't killed," said Lewis, a worker in another department who went to the aid of the injured men. "I just wanted to help—I thought it was the thing to do," he said.

Officials at the plant, located at Riverview six miles below Marietta, said a processing vessel ruptured when a runaway chemical reaction to an impurity created abnormal pressure. The blast occurred in the epoxy —a resin substance—unit.

Company spokesmen said most of the injured men were members of a plant emergency squad which had been spraying water on the vessel in an attempt to control the reaction.

A company employe, who asked that his name be withheld, said the blast occurred in a

Nixon Calls For Step To End Draft

Asks Laird To Set Up Special Unit To Form Detailed Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has asked Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird to set up a special commission "to develop a detailed plan of action for ending the draft."

The request announced by the White House Thursday represented one of several small steps taken at the same time to redeem campaign pledges.

These steps gained added impetus today with Nixon's planned statements to Congress, calling for more policemen, judges and prosecutors to curb crime in the nation's capital.

That late afternoon message was on a schedule including a trip to the Pentagon for a briefing with the Joint Chiefs of Staff and a pep talk to lower echelon defense officials.

During the campaign, Nixon repeatedly pledged an all-out effort to combat crime, particularly in Washington which he said should be a national model.

Nixon ordered Atty. Gen. John Mitchell earlier this week to map an urgent program against crime in the capital where homicides and rapes reached record totals last year, robberies in December were double the same month a year before and bank holdups have more than tripled.

On the draft question, the White House said Laird "was

GIs Uncover Huge North Vietnamese Base Near Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — American air cavalrymen have uncovered a huge North Vietnamese base spread over four square miles northwest of Saigon. U.S. officers said they think it was being built in preparation for a winter-spring offensive.

The base is believed to be the largest ever uncovered in the war and could accommodate perhaps 5,000 or more enemy troops. It contained hundreds of bunkers, a large underground hospital, dining halls, a bicycle repair shop, and a command post.

Troops of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division came on the base while on a sweep along jungle trails in the long-time Viet Cong stronghold known as War Zone C. The base was found some 53 miles northwest of Saigon and 14 miles south of the Cambodian border.

Lt. Col. Frank Henry of Franklin, N.C., told AP photographer Rick Merron during a survey of the area that his troops had already counted 354 bunkers of various sizes and that he estimates there are 750 to 1,000 bunkers in the whole area.

"They've been doing a lot of work on this complex in the last month," Henry said. "We think they were preparing for the coming offensive down South," meaning attacks on U.S. and South Vietnamese installations closer to Saigon and possibly on the capital itself.

Concerned Meeting Held By Kremlin About Middle East

By The Associated Press

The Soviet leadership has sent an important message to President Gamal Abdel Nasser on the Middle East crisis, the semiofficial Cairo newspaper Al Ahram said today.

It said the message from Soviet Communist party General Secretary Leonid Brezhnev concerned a meeting the Kremlin leaders held earlier this week on the Middle East. The contents of the message were not revealed.

Alexander Shelepin, a member of the Soviet party politburo currently in Cairo with a trade mission, delivered the message to Nasser and discussed its contents with him, the paper said. The editor of Al Ahram, anticipating the meeting of the U.S. National Security Council on the Middle East in Washington Saturday, urged President Nixon not to pursue the policies of former President Johnson in the Arab-Israeli conflict.

Iraq Due To Release American Engineer

By The Associated Press

Baghdad radio said today American engineer Paul Bail was arrested in Iraq for "actions related to spying" and may be released within the next few days.

The broadcast did not specify whom Bail was accused of acting for, but it added that "the government, acting from a position of strength, will be tolerant toward him."

The announcement confirmed reports in Washington that Bail had been picked up in connection with Iraq's growing spy hunt.

Viet Peace Talks Still Deadlocked

PARIS (AP) — The Vietnam peace talks, deadlocked again after only two sessions, are settling into a familiar pattern of weekly propaganda battles. But spokesmen for both sides hint that they expect progress eventually in private contacts.

Such contacts still seem a long way off.

On the first anniversary of the Viet Cong's Big Tet offensive, the four delegations met Thursday for more than seven hours. It was the longest session since preliminary peace talks opened last May.

The consensus of all four delegations was that no progress was made. The two sides traded abuse and accusations, rejecting or ignoring the other's approach to the basic issue of how to approach peace. Their only decision was to meet again next Thursday, the day apparently chosen for weekly sessions.

The second meeting was "fruitless but not useless," one U.S. official said. "Every confrontation like this helps to clarify our respective positions for the long, arduous and largely secret bargaining still ahead."

Henry Cabot Lodge of the United States, supported by South Vietnam's Pham Dang Lam, again proposed that the conference discuss reviving the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam as a "first step toward re-establishing peace."

Legislators 'Mark Time;' Await Rhodes' Proposals

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio legislators appear to be "marking time" until the proposals of Gov. James A. Rhodes are sent upstairs to the 108th General Assembly.

Next week the session will go into its fifth week. The pace and continuity of the session were broken in the third week by the four-day legislative workshop at Burr Oak State Park near Glouster.

To date there have been 80 bills introduced in the House and 64 in the Senate.

Important Measures

There have been important measures such as the proposed constitutional amendment to lower the voting age to 18 and controversial ones such as the abortion bill introduced in the House Thursday.

Lawmakers also have the governor's budget to work on.

9 Big Ohio City Mayors See Crisis In Pension Obligation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nine big city mayors agreed Thursday they face a "crisis" in trying to meet obligations to the State Police and Firemen's Pension Fund.

They decided to invite Gov. James A. Rhodes and legislative leaders to meet with them soon to discuss the issue.

Although the mayors offered no alternative proposals, they agreed that if tre legislature forces them and the other cities to pay the total $413 million owed the fund the cities will be placed behind the eight-ball.

They said other vital services would have to be curtailed.

The huge debt was created when the legislature in 1965 combined all of the individual municipal police and firemen's pension funds into one statewide fund.

The mayors scrapped a resolution calling on the legislature to either increase the tax on cigarettes or liquor, appropriate money directly from the state general fund or impose a new tax to help relieve the cities of their burden.

Thursday's meeting was described a success and participants decided to meet here at least once a month while the General Assembly is in session to discuss issues and bills affecting cities.

Represented were Cleveland Columbus, Cincinnati, Toledo, Akron, Dayton, Youngstown, Canton and Springfield.

The mayors also discussed the problems of public transportation.

Mayor Eugene P. Ruehlmann of Cincinnati proposed state subsidies for school children using public transportation. He said Cincinnati offers half fares for school kids riding city buses and suggested that this should be paid by the state.

Cleveland Mayor Carl B. Stokes suggested the mayors explore the possibility of getting state aid for operation of city transit systems.

He said it would help if the state relieved the cities of paying the diesel fuel tax, which in Cleveland amounts to a half million dollars a year.

Personalities In The News

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Jimmy Stewart says he shook at least 12,000 hands during a just-completed tour of Vietnam and found the GIs had a surprising complaint: Some of the entertainment from the states is lousy.

"The kids are not languishing over there hungering for something from home. They have got taste," Stewart told newsmen Thursday.

"I'd just go in and shake hands," said Stewart, adding that Gloria got most of the attention. She said GIs would gather around and say: "Ma'am would you do me just one favor? Would you please kiss me?"

"I'd kiss them and say, 'If I look good to you, you've been away too long'," she added.

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Two jewelers stepped to the sidewalk and hollered at a passing salesman, "Stop that man!"

Fortunately for the jewelers the mild mannered salesman was John Niland, an offensive guard for the Dallas Cowboys during the National Football League season.

The annual Governor's Cup game pits the Pierre Governors against the Bismarck (N.D.) Demons.

"I thought he and I could each play a quarter at opposite positions to test our skills against one another," said Farrar, at 39 the nation's youngest GOP governor.

Gut, who was a North Dakota high school basketball star 30 years ago, has indicated he will ernor.

Guy, who was a North Dakota high school basketball star 30 years ago, has indicated he will attend the contest but hasn't made any promises about participating.

Midland Rotary Hears Governor

George Cole III, district governor, discussed the 40th anniversary of Rotary when the Midland Club held its "Charter Night" meeting Thursday at the New Riviera.

Sam Miller, a charter member, was introduced.

Dr. George Carson reminded members of the Beaver County Club's meeting March 4 at the Holiday Inn in Beaver Falls. Tom Kraker and Ron Alberta were named to represent the Midland club at the annual Gypsy Glenn Riding Show.

James Miglore will be chairman of the May meeting when the 40th anniversary of the group will be observed. A membership drive is being conducted by the local club. The next meeting will be Thursday at the New Riviera.

Woman Injured In Fall And Nine Others Treated

A New Cumberland woman was admitted to City Hospital as the result of a fall at home and nine others were treated for injuries and released.

Flora Atkinson of 914 Ridge Ave., New Cumberland, fractured her right hip in the fall. She was in "fair" condition today.

Treated Thursday and released were Alan Cook, stepson of Wilbur Bittner of Woodbine Ave., burns on the right hand on an electric stove; Daniel C. Cunningham, son of Robert Cunningham of Lisbon St., a fractured nose in a collision with another basketball player.

Leroy Stull of 418 E. 4th St., a cut finger on the gas tank of an auto; Robert Lombardozzi, son of John Lombardozzi of 1109 Main St., Wellsville, a sprained right ankle in gym class; Everett Hart of 257 Indiana Ave., Chester, an employe of the Ohio Brass Co., a cut finger on a shop tool.

Eugene Goppert Sr. of Chester RD 1, employed by O. S. Hill and Co., a puncture wound of the left hand when hit with a piece of metal; Steven Coleman, son of David Coleman of 813 Rigby St., forehead lacerations on a coffee table, and William Congo of 1057 Hillcrest Rd., Wellsville, an employe of Ohio Brass, a cut on the right thumb on a knife at work.

Probation Set In Auto Death

LISBON — An East Liverpool man whose car struck and killed a 6-year-old Glenmoor boy April 27, 1967, was granted probation for two years Thursday by Judge Raymond S. Buzzard in Common Pleas Court.

William K. Betteridge, 59, of Lisbon St. Ext. pleaded guilty to the traffic manslaughter indictment June 25, 1968, one week after a jury deadlocked on the case.

The victim was Carl W. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Smith. The accident occurred in front of their home on Route 267.

Terms of probation require Mr. Betteridge to obey all laws, pay all costs connected with prosecution of the case and report every month to Probation Officer Richard Rose.

Two scheduled probation hearings did not materialize.

Mrs. Marjorie Jean Mosser, 22, of 1033 Huston Ave., East Liverpool, who had pleaded guilty last July 16 to a charge of forgery, advised the court she feels she is not guilty. Judge Buzzard allowed her to withdraw her former plea and plead not guilty. He set her bond at $1,500. He took under consideration a motion by Richard Fox of Columbiana for leave to withdraw as Mrs. Mosser's counsel.

She was charged with forging a $35 check cashed Sept. 27, 1967, at the Hilltop Market, East Palestine. She claims she found the check already made out and the storekeeper cashed it without question.

The judge directed the assignment commissioner to schedule Mrs. Mosser's trial as soon as possible.

Prosecuting Atty. J. Warren Bettis requested that the probation hearing scheduled for Joseph Hill, 25, of W. Clark St., East Palestine, be deferred pending an examination of Hill at Lima State Hospital.

A jury convicted Hill last Oct. 17 of stealing a car owned by Leroy W. Henderson of East Palestine. Defense Counsel James Allison of East Palestine joined in the prosecutor's request and Judge Buzzard ordered that Hill be taken to Lima for an examination and report.

The United States acquired its first insular possessions in 1898, when it annexed Hawaii and obtained Puerto Rico, the Philippines and Guam as a result of the war with Spain.

Patrol Lists 3 Accidents

A Glenmoor man was treated at City Hospital for injuries suffered in a two - car accident on Route 10, just north of old Route 30, at 4:30 p.m. Thursday.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Eugene D. Breeze, 55, was southbound in a 1962 sedan when a westbound 1963 sedan operated by Robert B. Mackall, 43, of Lisbon RD 3 pulled across Route 170.

Breeze was unable to halt in time and it struck the Mackall auto. He was treated for contusions and abrasions of the left knee.

A Columbiana area youth was injured in a mishap on W. Main St., New Waterford, 7 p. m. Thursday.

Thomas J. Wawrosch, 16, of Columbiana RD 1, lost control of his eastbound 1959 station wagon on a curve and it struck a pole on the south side of the road.

Albert Hayes III, 17, of 255 Lisbon St., Columbiana, a passenger, was taken to Salem City Hospital where he is in "fair" condition. He suffered lacerations of the forehead.

A Dixonville man escaped injury when his car hit an embankment on Route 170 early Thursday morning.

Q. — Is there any way I can deal with scratches on silver?

A. — You can try rubbing with a chamois moistened with olive oil. Other such helpful hints are contained in my household manual.

Q. — How can I mix a good sachet powder for my bureau drawers and linen closets?

A. — One very good formula calls for a half - ounce of lavender flowers and a half-teaspoon of powdered cloves.

Harris Puts Question Into Focus

Bucher's Authority Gets Intense Airing In Probe

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — The question of how much authority Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher really had over intelligence operations on his ship seems to be getting a thorough airing before the court of inquiry into the capture of the USS Pueblo.

The question came into focus as Lt. Stephen R. Harris, in charge of the Pueblo's intelligence gathering mission, spent two hours in closed-door testimony Thursday and was ordered to return Monday.

The court went into a three-day recess for the weekend at a Navy doctor's recommendation to give Bucher a chance to rest. He testified nearly all of last week and has attended every session, open or closed. In addition, the court of five admirals said it wanted to catch up with administrative chores.

Harris Key Witness

Harris was regarded as a key witness because Bucher testified early in his story of the capture that he had told the 30-year-old lieutenant to destroy material which fell into the hands of the North Koreans.

The Navy declined to tell about Harris' testimony, saying it was classified in the interest of national defense. But a spokesman said it concerned the "operation and misson" of tihe Pueblo that Harris was questioned by counsel for the court and Bucher, and that Harris was not warned he was under any suspicion of breaking any Navy regulations. Such a warning has been given to Bucher.

Part of how Bucher operated the Pueblo was determined by a division of authority between himself and Harris. While Bucher had complete military command and ultimate responsibility of the ship, he has told the court that the commander-in-chief of the Pacific Fleet "designated that the operational and management control of the research spaces working areas for intelligence be under the command and jurisdiction of Lt. Harris . . .

"He did not directly report to me."

On occasion, Bucher said, the question of his authority over Harris' staff became "a very tender area and some of the representatives for the research department on occasion made it known to me those people were not working for me."

Working For Them

"May I say," Bucher told the court, "that my job as commanding officer of that ship was to place that ship in the most effective and useful location in order that we could collect the maximum of intelligence."

Bucher said his limited authority meant:

—"I had to rely on the research department to take care of all my crypto (code) requirements."

—"I was not cleared for some of the materials they (the intelligence working areas) carried."

—He was never able to observe how Harris conducted drill in destroying secret material in case of capture.

Yet Bucher said he was ultimately responsible for the security of all the classified material on board the Pueblo "because that material was on board my ship."

So when North Koreans opened fire on the Pueblo, Bucher said, "my primary concern was . . . to actually destroy the classified materials." When he began to feel "that I was not getting a sufficient number of reports to keep me apprised of the situation," he decided to inspect the destruction of classified documents in Harris' intelligence compartments himself.

Door In Research Space

"There was a steel door located in the research space," Bucher said. "This door was provided with a triple locking system and was necessary because of the security in the spaces."

"I knocked on the door and it was opened to me. I came in, and I noticed on the deck . . . at least three large naval mattress covers which apparently were full of documents . . . and I presumed they were all classified . . .

"I was to say the least quite surprised to see the volume of material that was on the deck in this compartment . . . I spoke to Lt. Harris and I said words to the effect, 'Let's get rid of this material right now.' And he replied that he was getting—that the material was being destroyed and being thrown over the side, and further indicated that crypto materials had been destroyed."

Bucher said he left for a few moments to send messages to his headquarters in Japan, then returned to Harris' compartment and repeated his destruction onder.

When he returned to the bridge, Bucher said, he got a telephone call from Harris asking permission to message headquarters that he was not able to complete destruction of all the publications.

Q. Rear Adm. Edward Grimm: "How much additional time was needed?"

A. Bucher: "Sir, I did not ask that question. At that time . . . I personally thought all the material I had seen, which were at least three large mattress covers full, had been by this time thrown over the side . . . I received nothing to indicate that the material had not gone over the side, and from the way Lt. Harris spoke to me, indicated that was just a few pieces of material left which he could not get destroyed properly."

Later, after North Koreans boarded the Pueblo, Bucher said he was ordered to tour the ship with his captors and when they arrived in Harris' compartment "I was rather surprised to still see a couple of mattress covers which were apparently full of classified materials.

"It did surprise me, because as I had testified before, I had seen this material there some 20 to 30 minutes before this and perhaps as much as 40, and I had no prior indication that the material had not been jettisoned or destroyed."

Midland Lions Hear Drug Representative

James Johnson, a representative of Smith, Kline and French, discussed "The Evolution of Drugs as an Aid to Medical Science" during the Midland Lions Club meeting Thursday.

The club's "Cadillac Dinner" will be Feb. 8 at 6 p.m. at the Willows Motel. Tickets for the project may be purchased from any club member.

There will be a Valentine meeting Feb. 13 at the Suburban Motel, with wives and others as guests. Thirty attended last night's meeting. Dr. W. L. Sweeney was program chairman.

Winners Listed In Science Fair At Midland Event

Awards for single and group exhibits were presented during the Presentation School Science Fair Tuesday at Midland following the Parent - Teacher Guild meeting.

First-place winners received gold keys, second silver keys, third silver pins and honorable mention ribbons. Group prizes were first, gold pin; second, blue pin, and third, statues.

First-place winners in each grade division were: Grade 4—Edward Doyle, individual, and Karen Davis and Frank Poff, group; Grade 5 — Philip Rosatone and Theresa Mikita (tie), individual, and Diane Lozzi and Marian Kukich, group.

Grade 6 — Thomas Elko, individual, and Janet DeCostro and Anna Marie Felekey, group; Grade 7 — Diane Cromo, individual, and Camille Monac and Joyce Shovlin, group; Grade 8 — Mike Trivelli, individual, and Mike Vranich and Vince Fanfera, group.

A program was presented by students, including the first-grade rhythm band, a reading lesson by the seventh grade and songs by the eighth grade.

Mrs. Anthony Pantoni Jr. and her committee served refreshments. The science exhibits on display at Regan Hall were viewed.

Police Report No Clues Yet In Girl Abduction

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — Lancaster police reported today they have "nothing to go on so far" in their investigation of the abduction of a 16-year-old girl from her grandmother's home Tuesday night.

"Everything is still up in the air," a police spokesman said Thursday night.

The girl's 13-year-old sister told police four young men who called the 16-year-old by name took both girls from the house by car to an area near Columbus and raped them.

The 13-year-old girl said the youths released her in a Lancaster parking lot. Hospital tests showed she had been raped.

Police said they have no idea where the girl might be and have no suspects in the case. They said the FBI has not been called into the investigation.

Health Board Returns Mead For 27th Term

EAST PALESTINE — Earl Mead of N. Liberty St., former dry cleaning business operator, was re-elected to a 27th term as president of the board of health here Thursday.

Mrs. David Peterson and Mrs. Jack Ashbridge, nurses, were reappointed to be in charge of the school immunization program. Dr. W. S. Elliott was returned as medical adviser.

Reports showed nine cases of mumps currently in schools in the city, a number at Negley but none at Unity.

Bucher's Authority Gets Intense Airing In Probe

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — The question of how much authority Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher really had over intelligence operations on his ship seems to be getting a thorough airing before the court of inquiry into the capture of the USS Pueblo.

The question came into focus as Lt. Stephen R. Harris, in charge of the Pueblo's intelligence gathering mission, spent two hours in closed-door testimony Thursday and was ordered to return Monday.

The court went into a three-day recess for the weekend at a Navy doctor's recommendation to give Bucher a chance to rest. He testified nearly all of last week and has attended every session, open or closed. In addition, the court of five admirals said it wanted to catch up with administrative chores.

Harris Key Witness

Harris was regarded as a key witness because Bucher testified early in his story of the capture that he had told the 30-year-old lieutenant to destroy material which fell into the hands of the North Koreans.

The Navy declined to tell about Harris' testimony, saying it was classified in the interest of national defense. But a spokesman said it concerned the "operation and misson" of tihe Pueblo that Harris was questioned by counsel for the court and Bucher, and that Harris was not warned he was under any suspicion of breaking any Navy regulations. Such a warning has been given to Bucher.

Part of how Bucher operated the Pueblo was determined by a division of authority between himself and Harris. While Bucher had complete military command and ultimate responsibility of the ship, he has told the court that the commander-in-chief of the Pacific Fleet "designated that the operational and management control of the research spaces working areas for intelligence be under the command and jurisdiction of Lt. Harris . . .

"He did not directly report to me."

On occasion, Bucher said, the question of his authority over Harris' staff became "a very tender area and some of the representatives for the research department on occasion made it known to me those people were not working for me."

Working For Them

"May I say," Bucher told the court, "that my job as commanding officer of that ship was to place that ship in the most effective and useful location in order that we could collect the maximum of intelligence."

Colt Tells It As It Is

March spelled it out — competition in the steel market is stiff, Crucible intends to meet it with sales initiative, with improved production methods, with trimming of "fat" in operations.

Crucible prior to the Colt merger had embarked on a decentralization of decision-making, on investment in new equipment. Under Colt, the trend continues, with responsibility at the local levels increasing.

March, concerned by foreign imports, nevertheless believes American steel industry does not need a tariff or quota program to lick the overseas pressure. Enforce existing regulations which put the Europeans and Japanese on a fairer market level, then outproduce them and outsell them, he says.

The battle in the market place is not going to ease for steel or any other industry or business, and when March points the way to more efficiency and aggressiveness, he is setting the economic theme for the economy here and across America for 1969 and the years to come.

The Iraqi Horror Show

As is usual in prominent international incidents, there is more to the public hanging of 15 accused spies by Iraq officials than meets the eye.

Among the men executed for alleged spying in behalf of Israel were nine Jews.

IN THE WAVES of denunciation of the Roman circus spectacle that have come from the United Nations, U.S. officials, capitals around the world and an angry Israel, other facts are coming to light.

He and his wife, both Baghdad natives, escaped two years ago and now reside in the United States. They tell of brutality exerted against the Jewish populaiton, of the ban against Jews engaging in business and the refusal of Iraqi officials to let them leave the country.

They explain that the majority of Jews eke out an existence through the charity of their coreligionists. The Jews who are in a position to help others are those who made enough money before restrictions were implemented to be reasonably well off and those who are doing business furtively in defiance of the ban.

Monday's public hanging which shocked the world and posed a new threat to Middle East peace is being looked upon in many circles as a blow aimed at Jews and Israel rather than a punishment for spies.

Despite condemnation from a variety of sources, a new mass spy trial is under way in Baghdad and more executions have been promised. The new defendants, including a reported 13 Jews, have been accused of spying for the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

The United States is urging Israel to reject any thought of retaliation in a move to stop the upward spiral of incidents that could lead to full-scale warfare. The appeal may or may not be heeded.

United Nations Secretary General Thant has issued a call for a push by the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union toward a permanent peace settlement in the Middle East.

THAT GOAL is just as worthy as it was when Mr. Thant first issued his appeal for relaxation of Middle East tension — and just as distant.

It all comes down to the Arabs and Israelis. When both sides are ready for peace it will come—and not before.

The United Nations and the big powers by all means should diligently seek peaceful avenues. Their job is to create a climate for mutual agreement between the antagonists.

Part of that responsibility is to denounce excessive action on both sides that detracts from an amicable climate.

Pitfall In CED Proposal

A word of caution to Congress: Go slow on the recommendation of the Committee for Economic Development that legislation be enacted that would give the president power to raise or lower taxes up to 10 per cent, subject to congressional veto.

Spokesmen for CED, a nonprofit research organization, say the proposal, if adopted, would give the president a flexible, faster-acting means of using taxation to slow inflation or combat a recessionary trend than is now available.

THE THEORY of the suggestion is good but its practical application is something else.

How such a power would be used by a president would be determined by his spending philosophy and whether or not his party was in control of Congress (to get around the veto clause).

The pitfall in the proposed legislation is its "escape valve" characteristic that would give a president a way to cover his excessive spending tracks instead of keeping a sharp eye on federal expenditures.

The little spending reduction that took place in the last stages of the Johnson administration was forced by obstinate Rep. Wilbur D. Mills who refused to move on the surtax until a spending cut was mandated.

Some fancy financial footwork enabled the administration to avoid making the full $6 billion cut as ordered but spending sights were lowered a bit.

Had a surtax law like that proposed by CED been on the books when Mr. Johnson was in office with the support of a Democratic Congress, what would have happened?

IF THERE is anything that we don't need in Washington right now it is the enactment of a law that would encourage a spending-oriented president to follow his inclination, secure in the knowledge he could get new taxes.

Under a law like the CED proposal, one spending administration could wipe out all financial gains of a previous responsible administration.

Growing People's Capitalism

People's capitalism, in which a large number of American's share in the profits of our capitalistic system, is becoming more and more a way of life in these United States.

The sharing is through ownership in stock in the nation's many industries. So extensive is that sharing that 26.4 million citizens now are shareowners in the country's multitude of businesses.

The expanding participation in stock ownership is dramatic. In the last year alone, 2.5 million more Americans became stockholders. And since 1965 their numbers have increased by 6.5 million.

The rise in stock owners during the past three years has been seven times the percentage increase in the population. The New York Stock Exchange reported this week that one of every five adults now owns some stock.

Estimates are that 15 to 20 per cent of the new stockholders obtain their stock through the company which employs them.

Enabling employes to become stockholders in the companies they work for should make them better employes, more eager to see their firms prosper. For as the firm prospers, so do they.

The statistics would indicate that more and more companies are coming around to this way of thinking.

The greater involvement of the people in capitalism in an ownership capacity should tend to strengthen the system and make it better able to withstand the ideological attacks directed against it by other isms.

Letter To The Editor

Most of the people of East Liverpool are respectable dependent homeowners. They go to work every day only to pay the high city taxes that the city so willingly accepts from its citizens, or should I say, fools.

These taxes are supposed to pay to clean our city up, to make our roads better to drive upon, and to make our city a decent healthy place in which to live.

Have you ever thought where all this money is going to? No, because you know its the law, and if you don't pay it you'll go to jail.

The Health Department puts signs on our city dumps which reads $500 fine for anyone caught dumping trash because it is so unhealthy.

Why in the world don't they hang a sign on the city jail? That place is so filthy that the dirt glues your shoes to the floor when you try to walk. It's not fit for a pig to live in let alone a human being.

These taxes are so high because the city needs so much improvement, yet they won't even spend enough money to pad the steel beds in which the prisoners sleep on, or a bucket of soapy water, and a few minutes labor to clean the place up.

The heat is so low that if you are not a polar bear, you'll wind up with pneumonia. You are served two meals a day, without a drop of salt on it. Have you ever eaten a meal without salt? It tastes like muddy pancakes.

It would take all day and the whole newspaper to tell what the place is really like. These are just a few examples.

This letter was written by first hand experience, and a great many people feel the same as I do.

Stop and think about it. You may have the opportunity to experience this, some day yourself. If you already have, then you don't have to think you know.

Guaranteed Lifetime Jobs

WASHINGTON — As Jimmy Hoffa rounds out the second year of his prison industries mattress-making career in the Lewisburg penitentiary, his colleagues in the freer world develop new daring concepts, now that the Teamsters Brotherhood has reached the 2.1 million-member mark without his help.

Not that they've changed habits or habitat — they have just held their high command session in Florida — but they are adding intellectuals and new dimensions to their old coffers of money and muscle.

To prove that there can be something new under the collective bargaining sun, Teamsters leaders now are discussing the concept of a "guaranteed working lifetime wage."

There has been the guaranteed work day and work week, and there is the spreading guaranteed working annual wage. But not to my recollection has any influential labor man, or bloc of labor leaders, suggested a guaranteed lifetime job.

It is odd that this concept should come from a massive union which would rather fight than switch from traditional table pounding. But come it did from one of its officials, a newcomer to the national labor front, a tall, husky, tanned Southerner who sometimes has the mien and oratory of a preacher and sometimes the camaraderie of a golf course pro.

ARRIVING AS HE DOES to the Teamsters national marble hall here in the post-Hoffa era, he is virtually as anonymous inside the Brotherhood as outside.

He is Weldon L. Mathis, now administrative assistant to acting president, General Vice President Frank (Fitz) Fitzsimmons. The Hoffa stand-in found Mathis in Atlanta and cottoned to him. Since then, he has become the Brotherhood's intellectual in residence.

Some weeks ago Mathis represented the Teamsters at a federal collective bargaining indoctrination seminar in Atlanta. It is there that he spoke of guaranteeing a man his job for life as the challenge to automation.

There may be similar paternal concepts in Latin American and other foreign labor laws. Some Latin nations guarantee a worker he will be kept on for life if he survives the tests of the first 10 years of his employment.

But this is by statute — not by force of contract bargaining. The nearest move toward this in the U.S. is the guaranteed annual wage. The United Auto Workers now have a complex system which guarantees a laid-off worker a full year's pay.

ALREADY THERE IS concern over who will receive such a guarantee — the man with the lowest seniority or the older worker who says, why should I stay on the assembly line when Joe Smith, who has been working here 10 or 15 years less than I have, gets paid a full year for not working?

A similar system of supplementary unemployment benefits virtually guarantees a year's income to a laid-off steel worker. Now most of the Atlantic Coast longshoremen will be guaranteed pay for 2,080 hours a year (40 hours a week for 52 weeks) whether they work or not.

Now the Teamsters thesis, developed during the first days of the new year, will become the newest of conversation pieces during 1969 and bargaining gambits in swiftly succeeding years — just as did the once scoffed at "GAW" — guaranteed annual wage.

"We may have reached the point," said Mathis, "where unions must demand that the job of the worker be guaranteed, a point where attrition is not merely a consideration of new equipment and new methods.

"THE AUTO WORKERS have reached the mecca of the guaranteed annual wage. Cannot we suspect we have reached the point where we must negotiate something equivalent to a guaranteed working lifetime wage?"

Then referring to the basic issue of the longshoremen's conflict, Mathis philosophized:

"While unions generally and with rare exceptions have gone along with automation and technological advance . . . perhaps we are now operating in a new environment which is simply a moment of truth."

True, it is early in this dialogue. True, this is the concept of one union — but it is a gargantuan one, seeking its place in the community of respectability. It can begin its push anywhere — in a small transfer terminal, a service shop or a warehouse.

Then it can flashfire to the big haulers and their sprawling over-the-road van fleets.

New Feeling Of Confidence

There is a new feeling of confidence inside the Department of Justice — a belief that at last the laws of the land will be enforced without worrying whether such a course will hurt the administration politically.

Members of Congress have received many complaints from their constituents asking why certain individuals who plot riots are not arrested and punished when they violate the federal laws which forbid the crossing of state lines to foment disturbances.

Although hte city of Washington is under federal rule, it has a record of crime almost unparalleled. The streets are unsafe and robberies are commonplace. The other day the assistant principal of a high school was killed during a holdup of the school bank. Crime there increased 23 per cent in November 1968 over the same month in 1967.

MORALE IN THE DEPARTMENT of Justice itself has been sinking because of the attitude of the higher officials toward law enforcement and particularly the indifference to the explicit statutes on the books.

Federal grand juries should have been summoned to consider cases involving deliberate incitement of riots but this wasn't done. Prosecutions have been brought in connection with "civil rights" and these undoubtedly were helpful to the Democratic party in certain sections of the North.

The demonstrations and resultant violence during the recent inaugural ceremonies were made possible by a permit issued prior to inauguration day when the leaders promised in advance that there would be no misbehavior.

The police and the troops, of course, were able to reduce the disorder to a minimum, though it is deplorable to see "demonstrators" throw bottles and cans against the automobile in which a new president is riding.

It was a sad moment for millions of people who witnessed over the television the deliberate disturbance.

The new attorney general, John N. Mitchell, has promised to deal firmly with the crime problem and many career employes in the Department of Justice have been encouraged by his public statements that he intends to pursue a vigorous course in enforcing the law.

It will probably be several weeks before the change will be felt throughout the country. But police officers and heads of law-enforcement agencies generally are impressed by what they have learned about the approach taken by the new attorney general. He is preparing specific recommendations to cope with crime in America today which will soon be disclosed.

President Nixon, in his campaign speeches, made it clear that he was not going to deal with the crime issue or civil rights on a political basis but would insist upon impartial, as well as intensive, efforts not only in enforcing the civil-rights statutes but also in applying the federal laws covering crime in the various states.

The national government in recent decades has been assuming more and more police authority in cities and towns where racial discrimination occurs.

The federal government, moreover, has declared that it has the power, under the "interstate commerce" clause of the Constitution, to restrain those who engage in racial discrimination in restaurants and hotels or in the sale or rental of housing facilities.

It would not be surprising if the new administration took the position that crime, too, is not altogether a local affair. Many of the instigators of disturbances and many who rob banks or attack citizens on the streets can be prosecuted by the federal government, since they cross state lines in order to interfere with the rights of American citizens to "equal protection of the laws."

THERE ARE PLENTY of Supreme Court decisions which have defined "civil rights" as they relate to racial matters. But there are many other civil rights which both whites and Negroes would like to enjoy and which are denied because criminals have grown in number and in boldness in recent years.

The key to law enforcement in America is in the Department of Justice as well as in the cities and towns across the country. Cooperation among the various law-enforcement agencies is the goal which President Nixon and Atty. Gen. Mitchell will strive to attain.

Colt Tells It As It Is

March spelled it out — competition in the steel market is stiff, Crucible intends to meet it with sales initiative, with improved production methods, with trimming of "fat" in operations.

Crucible prior to the Colt merger had embarked on a decentralization of decision-making, on investment in new equipment. Under Colt, the trend continues, with responsibility at the local levels increasing.

March, concerned by foreign imports, nevertheless believes American steel industry does not need a tariff or quota program to lick the overseas pressure. Enforce existing regulations which put the Europeans and Japanese on a fairer market level, then outproduce them and outsell them, he says.

The battle in the market place is not going to ease for steel or any other industry or business, and when March points the way to more efficiency and aggressiveness, he is setting the economic theme for the economy here and across America for 1969 and the years to come.

The Iraqi Horror Show

As is usual in prominent international incidents, there is more to the public hanging of 15 accused spies by Iraq officials than meets the eye.

Among the men executed for alleged spying in behalf of Israel were nine Jews.

IN THE WAVES of denunciation of the Roman circus spectacle that have come from the United Nations, U.S. officials, capitals around the world and an angry Israel, other facts are coming to light.

Iraq has carried out a systematic campaign of harassment and degradation against its Jewish population.

He and his wife, both Baghdad natives, escaped two years ago and now reside in the United States. They tell of brutality exerted against the Jewish populaiton, of the ban against Jews engaging in business and the refusal of Iraqi officials to let them leave the country.

They explain that the majority of Jews eke out an existence through the charity of their coreligionists. The Jews who are in a position to help others are those who made enough money before restrictions were implemented to be reasonably well off and those who are doing business furtively in defiance of the ban.

Monday's public hanging which shocked the world and posed a new threat to Middle East peace is being looked upon in many circles as a blow aimed at Jews and Israel rather than a punishment for spies.

Despite condemnation from a variety of sources, a new mass spy trial is under way in Baghdad and more executions have been promised. The new defendants, including a reported 13 Jews, have been accused of spying for the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

The United States is urging Israel to reject any thought of retaliation in a move to stop the upward spiral of incidents that could lead to full-scale warfare. The appeal may or may not be heeded.

United Nations Secretary General Thant has issued a call for a push by the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union toward a permanent peace settlement in the Middle East.

THAT GOAL is just as worthy as it was when Mr. Thant first issued his appeal for relaxation of Middle East tension — and just as distant.

It all comes down to the Arabs and Israelis. When both sides are ready for peace it will come—and not before.

The United Nations and the big powers by all means should diligently seek peaceful avenues. Their job is to create a climate for mutual agreement between the antagonists.

Part of that responsibility is to denounce excessive action on both sides that detracts from an amicable climate.

Pitfall In CED Proposal

A word of caution to Congress: Go slow on the recommendation of the Committee for Economic Development that legislation be enacted that would give the president power to raise or lower taxes up to 10 per cent, subject to congressional veto.

Spokesmen for CED, a nonprofit research organization, say the proposal, if adopted, would give the president a flexible, faster-acting means of using taxation to slow inflation or combat a recessionary trend than is now available.

THE THEORY of the suggestion is good but its practical application is something else.

How such a power would be used by a president would be determined by his spending philosophy and whether or not his party was in control of Congress (to get around the veto clause).

The pitfall in the proposed legislation is its "escape valve" characteristic that would give a president a way to cover his excessive spending tracks instead of keeping a sharp eye on federal expenditures.

The little spending reduction that took place in the last stages of the Johnson administration was forced by obstinate Rep. Wilbur D. Mills who refused to move on the surtax until a spending cut was mandated.

Some fancy financial footwork enabled the administration to avoid making the full $6 billion cut as ordered but spending sights were lowered a bit.

Had a surtax law like that proposed by CED been on the books when Mr. Johnson was in office with the support of a Democratic Congress, what would have happened?

IF THERE is anything that we don't need in Washington right now it is the enactment of a law that would encourage a spending-oriented president to follow his inclination, secure in the knowledge he could get new taxes.

Under a law like the CED proposal, one spending administration could wipe out all financial gains of a previous responsible administration.

Growing People's Capitalism

People's capitalism, in which a large number of American's share in the profits of our capitalistic system, is becoming more and more a way of life in these United States.

The sharing is through ownership in stock in the nation's many industries. So extensive is that sharing that 26.4 million citizens now are shareowners in the country's multitude of businesses.

The expanding participation in stock ownership is dramatic. In the last year alone, 2.5 million more Americans became stockholders. And since 1965 their numbers have increased by 6.5 million.

The rise in stock owners during the past three years has been seven times the percentage increase in the population. The New York Stock Exchange reported this week that one of every five adults now owns some stock.

Estimates are that 15 to 20 per cent of the new stockholders obtain their stock through the company which employs them.

Enabling employes to become stockholders in the companies they work for should make them better employes, more eager to see their firms prosper. For as the firm prospers, so do they.

The statistics would indicate that more and more companies are coming around to this way of thinking.

The greater involvement of the people in capitalism in an ownership capacity should tend to strengthen the system and make it better able to withstand the ideological attacks directed against it by other isms.

Letter To The Editor

Most of the people of East Liverpool are respectable dependent homeowners. They go to work every day only to pay the high city taxes that the city so willingly accepts from its citizens, or should I say, fools.

These taxes are supposed to pay to clean our city up, to make our roads better to drive upon, and to make our city a decent healthy place in which to live.

Have you ever thought where all this money is going to? No, because you know its the law, and if you don't pay it you'll go to jail.

The Health Department puts signs on our city dumps which reads $500 fine for anyone caught dumping trash because it is so unhealthy.

Why in the world don't they hang a sign on the city jail? That place is so filthy that the dirt glues your shoes to the floor when you try to walk. It's not fit for a pig to live in let alone a human being.

These taxes are so high because the city needs so much improvement, yet they won't even spend enough money to pad the steel beds in which the prisoners sleep on, or a bucket of soapy water, and a few minutes labor to clean the place up.

The heat is so low that if you are not a polar bear, you'll wind up with pneumonia. You are served two meals a day, without a drop of salt on it. Have you ever eaten a meal without salt? It tastes like muddy pancakes.

It would take all day and the whole newspaper to tell what the place is really like. These are just a few examples.

This letter was written by first hand experience, and a great many people feel the same as I do.

Stop and think about it. You may have the opportunity to experience this, some day yourself. If you already have, then you don't have to think you know.

Guaranteed Lifetime Jobs

WASHINGTON — As Jimmy Hoffa rounds out the second year of his prison industries mattress-making career in the Lewisburg penitentiary, his colleagues in the freer world develop new daring concepts, now that the Teamsters Brotherhood has reached the 2.1 million-member mark without his help.

Not that they've changed habits or habitat — they have just held their high command session in Florida — but they are adding intellectuals and new dimensions to their old coffers of money and muscle.

To prove that there can be something new under the collective bargaining sun, Teamsters leaders now are discussing the concept of a "guaranteed working lifetime wage."

There has been the guaranteed work day and work week, and there is the spreading guaranteed working annual wage. But not to my recollection has any influential labor man, or bloc of labor leaders, suggested a guaranteed lifetime job.

It is odd that this concept should come from a massive union which would rather fight than switch from traditional table pounding. But come it did from one of its officials, a newcomer to the national labor front, a tall, husky, tanned Southerner who sometimes has the mien and oratory of a preacher and sometimes the camaraderie of a golf course pro.

ARRIVING AS HE DOES to the Teamsters national marble hall here in the post-Hoffa era, he is virtually as anonymous inside the Brotherhood as outside.

He is Weldon L. Mathis, now administrative assistant to acting president, General Vice President Frank (Fitz) Fitzsimmons. The Hoffa stand-in found Mathis in Atlanta and cottoned to him. Since then, he has become the Brotherhood's intellectual in residence.

Some weeks ago Mathis represented the Teamsters at a federal collective bargaining indoctrination seminar in Atlanta. It is there that he spoke of guaranteeing a man his job for life as the challenge to automation.

There may be similar paternal concepts in Latin American and other foreign labor laws. Some Latin nations guarantee a worker he will be kept on for life if he survives the tests of the first 10 years of his employment.

But this is by statute — not by force of contract bargaining. The nearest move toward this in the U.S. is the guaranteed annual wage. The United Auto Workers now have a complex system which guarantees a laid-off worker a full year's pay.

ALREADY THERE IS concern over who will receive such a guarantee — the man with the lowest seniority or the older worker who says, why should I stay on the assembly line when Joe Smith, who has been working here 10 or 15 years less than I have, gets paid a full year for not working?

A similar system of supplementary unemployment benefits virtually guarantees a year's income to a laid-off steel worker. Now most of the Atlantic Coast longshoremen will be guaranteed pay for 2,080 hours a year (40 hours a week for 52 weeks) whether they work or not.

Now the Teamsters thesis, developed during the first days of the new year, will become the newest of conversation pieces during 1969 and bargaining gambits in swiftly succeeding years — just as did the once scoffed at "GAW" — guaranteed annual wage.

"We may have reached the point," said Mathis, "where unions must demand that the job of the worker be guaranteed, a point where attrition is not merely a consideration of new equipment and new methods.

"THE AUTO WORKERS have reached the mecca of the guaranteed annual wage. Cannot we suspect we have reached the point where we must negotiate something equivalent to a guaranteed working lifetime wage?"

Then referring to the basic issue of the longshoremen's conflict, Mathis philosophized:

"While unions generally and with rare exceptions have gone along with automation and technological advance . . . perhaps we are now operating in a new environment which is simply a moment of truth."

True, it is early in this dialogue. True, this is the concept of one union — but it is a gargantuan one, seeking its place in the community of respectability. It can begin its push anywhere — in a small transfer terminal, a service shop or a warehouse.

Then it can flashfire to the big haulers and their sprawling over-the-road van fleets.

New Feeling Of Confidence

There is a new feeling of confidence inside the Department of Justice — a belief that at last the laws of the land will be enforced without worrying whether such a course will hurt the administration politically.

Members of Congress have received many complaints from their constituents asking why certain individuals who plot riots are not arrested and punished when they violate the federal laws which forbid the crossing of state lines to foment disturbances.

Although hte city of Washington is under federal rule, it has a record of crime almost unparalleled. The streets are unsafe and robberies are commonplace. The other day the assistant principal of a high school was killed during a holdup of the school bank. Crime there increased 23 per cent in November 1968 over the same month in 1967.

IF THE autoist manages to avoid a collision with the rig as it pulls onto the Freeway in his path, he has several options. He can slam on his brakes and trail the truck in the right-hand lane until he gets to the exit ramp. Or he can stomp on the accelerator, pass the truck on the left and then zoom in front of the rig to cross the right - hand lane and reach the exit ramp — if he's lucky.

There's no recent record of a serious collision at the particular intersection, but literally dozens of drivers have complained of rigs pulling discourteously in front of them in defiance of the "Yield" sign and all the rules and courtesies of the highway.

Fortunately, the access ramp is used lightly. It serves only traffic eastbound on W. 8th St. and turning onto the Freeway to proceed north. The traffic includes a high percentage of tractor - trailer rigs, notably the behemoths towing tankers full of oil and chemicals. The truck traffic appears to be heavier at night than in the daylight hours.

THE SIZE of the "Yield" sign at the intersection may be a factor in the continuing near-misses. But any driver who uses the highway regularly should be aware of the rules, despite the size of the sign.

The Ohio Highway Department's manual of standard traffic signs and signals says the triangular "Yield" sign must be a minimum of 36 inches on each of its three sides.

At an expressway junction, which fits the situation in West End, the sign should be 48-x-48-x-48 inches, the manual says. And at a junction on an interstate highway, each leg of the triangular sign should be 5 feet, it adds.

I STOOD TWO 30-minute watches at the junction of the access ramp and the Freeway and found that drivers of big trucks, despite the public statements of their employers and their national associations, are prone to take a "public be damned" attitude when pulling onto the Freeway.

But I observed no clear-cut violation on either of the two days. I noted that auto operators, generally speaking, are inclined to heed the "Yield" sign. Woman drivers in particular usually slowed — and some stopped — whether or not they saw oncoming traffic.

The men, as a rule, slowed at the approach, looked for oncoming traffic and then zoomed onto the Freeway. Because of the highway design, it's comparatively rare that a driver on the ramp must come to a full halt before pulling onto the Freeway.

The sight distance situation is good. A driver on the ramp has plenty of opportunity to observe any vehicle approaching on the Freeway—and vice versa. On the two occasions on which I checked, the traffic was comparatively light in all directions. Of the four ramps in the interchange, the one in question seemed the least busy.

The Freeway is well - lighted, so the hazard should be no greater after dark than in daylight. But somehow the "Yield" sign seems to be overlooked by the truckers at night.

Perhaps a larger sign would help cut down on the violations. But so many appear to be deliberate flouting of the law that only an arrest, a conviction and a fine could open the trucker's eyes to the danger.

A captured North Vietnamese told the air cavalrymen that there was something in the area. He said he knew of a hospital but couldn't pinpoint it.

The air cavalrymen were turning up bunkers so fast that engineers called in to blow them up were hard put to keep up.

"This is an impossible job," said one engineer." It will take us weeks to blow them all up effectively."

"One of the bunkers had curtains in it; it must have been some wheel's bunker," said Capt. Henry A. Colavita of Arlington, Va.

The hospital complex "was brand new, still in the construction process at the time," said Colavita, but "we didn't see too many signs of recent use" in other parts of the bunker complex.

Colavita, commander of one of the two Air Cav companies searching the area, said his men also found enough enemy documents to fill two sandbags. Intelligence officers looked the documents over and said they indicated that the area was a "logistical supply center" for North Vietnamese troops.

Soviet Officer Fired At Heroes' Motorcade

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Soviet Army lieutneant who borrowed a policeman's uniform fired the shots at a motorcade carrying government leaders and cosmonauts last week, then died almost immediately, the Washington Post said today.

It said he took poison and was slugged by Kremlin guards who foiled the assassination attempt inside the Kremlin's Borovitsky Gate Jan. 22.

Lodge and Lam also offered to negotiate a "mutual withdrawal" of foreign forces from South Vietnam. But they ignored the other side's demand that the conference first seek a political settlement for South Vietnam.

North Vietnam's Xuan Thuy and Tran Buu Kiem of the National Liberation Front again rejected any discussion of military measures without prior consideration of political matters. Thuy demanded acceptance of Hanoi's four-point peace plan.

Both sides appeared to be stressing extreme bargaining positions with no hope of concessions yet.

The delegates took a 25-minute coffee break half way through the session, but there was no contact of any kind between the two sides during this period. In the six months of preliminary talks between the United States and North Vietnam, the Americans and the Vietnamese socialized during these breaks and this laid the groundwork for the private sessions in which they arranged the halt in the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam and the addition off the NLF and the Saigon government to the Paris talks.

"By and large the majority of lawmakers are waiting to see specifically what the governor will propose," Sen. Michael J. Maloney R-7 Cincinnati said.

The majority whip said he thought it "perfectly reasonable for legislators to hold up the bills" until they see what the governor has proposed, particularly in vocational and technical education.

Senate Majority Leader Ted W. Gray R - 3 Piqua said he would rather have the administration "hold it up and iron the bugs out, than for it to be sent up here for us to iron the bugs out."

Maloney added that there probably was a second reason why important legislation was slow in coming. He said legislators know that everything does not have to be done this session because Ohio now has annual sessions.

"The last two sessions were extremely productive," he added.

Middle East but also on future U.S.-Soviet relations.

He added that progress on such matters as missile limiting talks "depends totally" on first disposing of the Middle East problem.

In Beirut, Premier Rashid Karami's new government won an overwhelming 60-30 vote of confidence after a 13-hour session of the Lebanese Parliament. The vote ended a month-long political crisis that followed Israel's commando raid on Beirut International Airport.

In Tel Aviv, six members of an Al Fatah sabotage squad began serving prison sentences of 25 to 40 years. An Israeli military court convicted them of infiltrating from Jordan, firing on an army force and attempting to sabotage installations.

Saboteurs Increase

An Israeli newspaper said the number of Al Fatah saboteurs on the Lebanese-Israeli frontier has risen to between 300 and 500 in recent weeks. Beirut has repeatedly denied guerrillas were operating against Israeli from Lebanon. The paper Haaretz said the saboteurs are commanded by Syrians and are based in southeast Lebanon, in the foothills of Mt. Hermon.

At the United Nations, the outgoing president of the Security Council, Max Jakobson of Finland, said the Big Four powers would begin consultations on the Middle East "very soon, in one form or another," in February.

Jakobson said he did not know if the talks would start out among all four or just between the Soviet and U.S. delegates to the Security Council. Such talks were proposed by France, but the United States has been cool to the idea.

At a meeting of a U.N. commission, Iraq defended its hanging Monday of 14 persons, including nine Jews, as spies. An Iraqi diplomat said his country was in a state of war with Israel and must maintain its security. He said the Jews of Iraq were Iraqi citizens with responsibilities as citizens and added: "Israel must quit persuading people to spy for Israel."

U.S. Expert Shifted

The U.S. State Department announced that its chief expert on the United Nations, Joseph J. Sisco, is being shifted to the key post of assistant secretary of state for the Middle East and South Asia. When Arab diplomats at the United Nations refused to talk directly with Ambassador Arthur Goldberg, a Jew, during the Arab-Israeli war of June 1967, Sisco met with them to communicate U.S. views.

An Israeli Cabinet minister visiting St. Louis, Pinchais Sapir, said those hanged in Baghdad Monday were not Israeli spies but they may have been working for the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency. He declined to elaborate, but Iraq's announcement of the convictions and hangings said the group had used U.S. consular facilities in neighboring Iran.

A group of 35 Jewish youths in New York handcuffed themselves to a fence in front of the Iraqi Mission to the United Nations to protest the hangings. Police cut the 19 boys and five girls free after they refused to surrender the keys. They were released without charges.

Burglaries Probed By Police At Lisbon

LISBON — Local police are investigating burglaries reported ths morning at the Columbiana County Mental Health Clinic on E. Lincoln Way, at Dr. Edward Toolis' dental office on Exchange St. and at Lynn Riddle's law office on E. Washington St.

Officer John Vokovich is handling the investigation in the absence of Chief Leon T. Zahrndt, who went to the Bureau of Criminal Investigation and Identification Wednesday for a ballistics test on a bullet.

The bullet was removed from Glendon (Glenn) Ikirt, 49, of Pleasant Heights, who was shot Jan. 6 at the fairgrounds. The Grand Jury charges James Criss, 54, of Lee Ave., with the shooting.

In the burglaries, "less than $20" was taken from the dentist's office and nothing was missing at the clinic or law office, although the desks and files had been searched.

Many In Pennsylvania Slated For Pay Hike

HARRISBURG (AP) — Thousands of Pennsylvania workers get an automatic 15-cent hourly pay increase Saturday when the state's Minimum Wage Law goes up to $1.30.

Most recipients work in an estimated 119,000 small business establishments, hospitals, nursing homes, motels, restaurants and small construction companies not covered by federal law.

In addition, the work week was reduced from 42 to 40 hours with overtime at time and one-half computed beyond 40 hours.

Actually an embroidery and not a tapestry, the celebrated Bayeux tapestry documents the story of the Norman conquest of England and is believed to date from the 11th century.

SOUR PICKLES

Q. Do most expectant mothers develop cravings for certain foods like sour pickles?
A. Many do. Of 600 expectant mothers questioned by New York doctors, 394 admitted a craving for certain things. Most cravings were for inexpensive, harmless items. The only hard-to-get food was watermelon out of season.

CROSSED EYES

Q. Children will sometimes playfully cross their eyes. Is there any danger of the eyes remaining crossed?
A. Not if the child has normal eyesight and eye muscles. The moment a normal person looks away from a near point the eyes straighten. The thing to remember is that children can have a wandering type of eye cross. You may think they are "playfully" crossing their eyes when actually they have a serious eye condition. Any child whose eyes are crossed or cross only occasionally should be examined by a physician.

Answers appearing in these columns are of necessity brief and general and do not necessarily reflect the opinion of all physicians. Remember—the diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician.

Hazard

IF THE autoist manages to avoid a collision with the rig as it pulls onto the Freeway in his path, he has several options. He can slam on his brakes and trail the truck in the right-hand lane until he gets to the exit ramp. Or he can stomp on the accelerator, pass the truck on the left and then zoom in front of the rig to cross the right - hand lane and reach the exit ramp — if he's lucky.

There's no recent record of a serious collision at the particular intersection, but literally dozens of drivers have complained of rigs pulling discourteously in front of them in defiance of the "Yield" sign and all the rules and courtesies of the highway.

Fortunately, the access ramp is used lightly. It serves only traffic eastbound on W. 8th St. and turning onto the Freeway to proceed north. The traffic includes a high percentage of tractor - trailer rigs, notably the behemoths towing tankers full of oil and chemicals. The truck traffic appears to be heavier at night than in the daylight hours.

THE SIZE of the "Yield" sign at the intersection may be a factor in the continuing near-misses. But any driver who uses the highway regularly should be aware of the rules, despite the size of the sign.

The Ohio Highway Department's manual of standard traffic signs and signals says the triangular "Yield" sign must be a minimum of 36 inches on each of its three sides.

At an expressway junction, which fits the situation in West End, the sign should be 48-x-48-x-48 inches, the manual says. And at a junction on an interstate highway, each leg of the triangular sign should be 5 feet, it adds.

I STOOD TWO 30-minute watches at the junction of the access ramp and the Freeway and found that drivers of big trucks, despite the public statements of their employers and their national associations, are prone to take a "public be damned" attitude when pulling onto the Freeway.

But I observed no clear-cut violation on either of the two days. I noted that auto operators, generally speaking, are inclined to heed the "Yield" sign. Woman drivers in particular usually slowed — and some stopped — whether or not they saw oncoming traffic.

The men, as a rule, slowed at the approach, looked for oncoming traffic and then zoomed onto the Freeway. Because of the highway design, it's comparatively rare that a driver on the ramp must come to a full halt before pulling onto the Freeway.

The sight distance situation is good. A driver on the ramp has plenty of opportunity to observe any vehicle approaching on the Freeway—and vice versa. On the two occasions on which I checked, the traffic was comparatively light in all directions. Of the four ramps in the interchange, the one in question seemed the least busy.

The Freeway is well - lighted, so the hazard should be no greater after dark than in daylight. But somehow the "Yield" sign seems to be overlooked by the truckers at night.

Perhaps a larger sign would help cut down on the violations. But so many appear to be deliberate flouting of the law that only an arrest, a conviction and a fine could open the trucker's eyes to the danger.

a helicopter and said the triple-canopied jungle made it invisible from the air.

A captured North Vietnamese told the air cavalrymen that there was something in the area. He said he knew of a hospital but couldn't pinpoint it.

The air cavalrymen were turning up bunkers so fast that engineers called in to blow them up were hard put to keep up.

"This is an impossible job," said one engineer." It will take us weeks to blow them all up effectively."

"One of the bunkers had curtains in it; it must have been some wheel's bunker," said Capt. Henry A. Colavita of Arlington, Va.

The hospital complex "was brand new, still in the construction process at the time," said Colavita, but "we didn't see too many signs of recent use" in other parts of the bunker complex.

Colavita, commander of one of the two Air Cav companies searching the area, said his men also found enough enemy documents to fill two sandbags. Intelligence officers looked the documents over and said they indicated that the area was a "logistical supply center" for North Vietnamese troops.

Soviet Officer Fired At Heroes' Motorcade

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Soviet Army lieutneant who borrowed a policeman's uniform fired the shots at a motorcade carrying government leaders and cosmonauts last week, then died almost immediately, the Washington Post said today.

It said he took poison and was slugged by Kremlin guards who foiled the assassination attempt inside the Kremlin's Borovitsky Gate Jan. 22.

Plane Carrying 63 Is Hijacked To Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A National Airlines DC8 with 63 persons aboard was hijacked off the coast of Louisiana today by a "man with a gun at the head of the stewardess" and flown to Cuba.

The plane, Flight 44 from San Francisco to Miami with a stop scheduled at Tampa, carried 55 passengers and a crew of eight, the airline said. The plane landed in Havana at 6:58 a.m., EST.

HAMMONDSVILLE — Mrs. Barbara Board was elected president during the meeting of the Win - Some One" class of the Pine Grove Ridge United Methodist Church Sunday School Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Alice Householder.

Others named were Mrs. Joanne Saltsman, vice president; Miss Juanita Householder, treasurer, and Mrs. Grace Twaddle, secretary.

Roll call was answered with a Scripture containing the word "year".

The February meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Saltsman.

Lodge and Lam also offered to negotiate a "mutual withdrawal" of foreign forces from South Vietnam. But they ignored the other side's demand that the conference first seek a political settlement for South Vietnam.

North Vietnam's Xuan Thuy and Tran Buu Kiem of the National Liberation Front again rejected any discussion of military measures without prior consideration of political matters. Thuy demanded acceptance of Hanoi's four-point peace plan.

Both sides appeared to be stressing extreme bargaining positions with no hope of concessions yet.

The delegates took a 25-minute coffee break half way through the session, but there was no contact of any kind between the two sides during this period. In the six months of preliminary talks between the United States and North Vietnam, the Americans and the Vietnamese socialized during these breaks and this laid the groundwork for the private sessions in which they arranged the halt in the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam and the addition off the NLF and the Saigon government to the Paris talks.

Asked about the possibility that this Kaffeeklatsch diplomacy would resume, U.S. spokesman William Jorden said. "It is my practice never to discuss private meetings."

But so far there have been few bills which would substantially affect the state's educational, welfare or taxation system.

"By and large the majority of lawmakers are waiting to see specifically what the governor will propose," Sen. Michael J. Maloney R-7 Cincinnati said.

The majority whip said he thought it "perfectly reasonable for legislators to hold up the bills" until they see what the governor has proposed, particularly in vocational and technical education.

Senate Majority Leader Ted W. Gray R - 3 Piqua said he would rather have the administration "hold it up and iron the bugs out, than for it to be sent up here for us to iron the bugs out."

Maloney added that there probably was a second reason why important legislation was slow in coming. He said legislators know that everything does not have to be done this session because Ohio now has annual sessions.

"The last two sessions were extremely productive," he added.

Would Hire 1,000 More Policemen

Nixon Aides' Plans Aim At Crime In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's top advisers have drafted a package of proposals, including the hiring of perhaps another 1,000 policemen, for a crackdown on criminals in the capital, where many residents fear to walk the streets after dark.

The package also will recommend the appointment of more judges and other court personnel, said aides to the President.

And, it may include a potentially controversial plan to allow judges to hold in "preventive detention" persons who they think might commit crimes if released on bail.

Gave Mitchell Order

Nixon ordered Atty. Gen. John Mitchell this week to map an urgent program against crime in the capital. He acted against a backdrop of statistics such as these:

—Major crimes in Washington during the past year rose nearly 28 per cent—209 homicides, 271 rape cases and more than 4,600 robberies, all record highs.

—The most startling increase has been in robberies. Last month alone police recorded 629 robberies, more than double the number in December 1967 and more than five times the number in December 1965.

—Banks have been hit especially hard. There were 102 robberies of city financial institutions in 1968, compared with 29 in 1967. Already this year there have been 16 bank holdups.

"The situation today seems to us to be almost out of control," city bankers said Thursday in a full-page newspaper advertisement headed "an open letter to President Nixon."

"Washington, in the eyes of every American, as well as citizens of other nations, represents in microcosm," the bankers said. "The Federal City must ... be a model of stability, rather than an example of criminal anarchy."

Cruise Washington

Special details of FBI agents have been cruising Washington's streets in an effort to curb the bank robberies. Two FBI men assigned to the patrols were shot and killed this month when they tried to arrest a robbery suspect.

Many city merchants are arming themselves, and shootouts between bandits and store owners have become commonplace. "I'll bet 90 per cent of the stores around here have guns in them," said one Washington businessman. Said another: "If a few of these crooks get plugged, you'll discourage them." In one month, two bandits were wounded by their intended victims.

Besides banks and stores, hundreds of individual residents have become crime victims.

A White House secretary was robbed one night last week as she walked on the sidewalk just outside the White House grounds.

An 81-year-old "mother of the year" was pushed down a flight of stairs after youths snatched her purse.

The vice principal of Cardozo High School, Herman L. Clifford, was shot to death by one of three youths who had robbed the school bank of $350.

The robbery near the White House brought the crime problem "very close to home," Nixon said in disclosing he had ordered aides to draft the crash program.

Major Problem In District

Crime, he added, "is a major problem in the District of Columbia, as I found out when I suggested to the Secret Service I'd like to take a walk ..."

The District's Negro mayor, Walter Washington, said he felt too much was being made of street crime, but, "we welcome all the help we can get."

The mayor and other city spokesmen had reacted sharply last year when Nixon made crime in the capital a campaign issue. During one speech, Nixon termed the violence "a genuinely sickening tragedy to those who have lived and worked in this most beautiful of world capitals."

Nixon's campaign references to "an atmosphere of apprension and fear" had a somewhat familiar ring.

Moore Asked Again To Talk On Tax Plans

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)— Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr. has been invited — for a second time — to appear before members of the House of Delegates to discuss his proposed tax program.

Finance Committee Chairman Lewis N. McManus, D-Raleigh, said the governor will be invited to appear before the 25-member committee.

The date has been left to the governor's convenience, except to ask him to come in advance of a public hearing on the tax bills next Wednesday night, McManus said.

An aide to Gov. Moore said the chief executive would not comment until the letter containing the invitation is received.

Moore had been invited Tuesday to appear before the entire House of Delegates. But the invitation was refused because the Governor said his appearance would set a precedent.

A precedent has been set for a governor's appearance before a House committee, McManus said.

Gov. Hulett C. Smith appeared before the committee early in his administration.

McManus said legislators want to meet with Moore to clear up "gross confusion" about his tax bill.

Moore has proposed a one-year suspension of consumer sales tax exemption on the purchase of goods and services for use in manufacturing, contracting, mining and transportation.

He has estimated some $38 million in revenue would be produced for the first-year financing of his legislative proposals.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I protect rubber - covered electrical cords against premature drying out and cracking?

A. — By rubbing the cords periodically with wax or paraffin. Wipe this on with one cloth, then draw the wire through a second dry cloth several minutes later to remove excess wax and prevent stickiness.

Q. — How can I remove grease spots from woolens and silks?

A. — Rub a little talcum powder over the spots, allow to stand for a day or two, then brush it off with a stiff brush.

Q. — How can I repair chipped ornamental moldings on picture frames, furniture, and other such woodwork?

A. — By rebuilding the missing sections with wood putty. This putty is sold in powder form, and when mixed with water, dries into a hard, wood-like substance which can be carved, sanded, or sawed.

Q. — How can I remove rain spots from suede shoes?

A. — By rubbing lightly with an emery board ... and be sure that you do rub lightly so as not to remove the suede itself.

Q. — How can I deal with carbon paper stains on fabrics?

A. — By sponging with carbon tetrachloride. Then, to remove the remaining traces of the dyestuff, flush out with a solution of water, detergent, and a small amount of ammonia.

Oil Threatens Beach Areas In California

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Beaches, wildlife and fish were threatened today as oil bubbled forth from a leaking ocean-floor well at a rate of 21,000 gallons a day.

The black slick covered 200 square miles of Pacific Ocean, as pilots prepared chemical air drops to disperse the oil and underwater crews worked to seal the leak.

A team of experts was dispatched from Washington, D.C., by Secretary of Interior Walter J. Hickel, and Gov. Ronald Reagan told of the threat of "major pollution to our coast."

"It is imperative that everything be done that can be done," said Hickel. He is considering tighter regulations on offshore drilling, he said, as a result.

The undersea well being drilled five and a half miles offshore by Union Oil Co. of California blew out Tuesday.

With the migration of gray whales at its height, State Fish and Game officials expressed fear for safety of the mammals which must come to the surface to breathe. Their route was through the oil slick.

Many birds were struggling on the beaches, their feathers sticky with oil. State marine biologists said chemicals used to disperse the slick may harm bottom-dwelling fish and plankton.

The Coast Guard warned ships to stay at least five miles from the drilling platform from which oil workers sought to seal the leak. The well was drilled 3,000 feet below the ocean floor.

Logs were lashed together into floating barricades in an effort to trap the oil before it spread into harbors.

The oil was surging to the surface in two major bubbles Thursday night about 800 feet from the drilling platform. There may be other smaller flows as well, an oil company spokesman said.

In addition, natural gas was leaking near the rig.

Crews worked to force mud into the well, stopping the pressures. Workers from the Red Adair Fire Fighting Co. arrived to help.

Nodules of cobalt, iron, nickel and manganese can be dredged from the floor of the sea, the National Oceanographic Data Center has disclosed.

Most porpoises swim 17 to 23 miles per hour for brief periods, the National Oceanographic Data Center says. Some have been recorded going 40 to 43 m.p.h.

Sea animals and plants too weak or small to navigate drift with the currents and are known as plankton.

Man Who Gave Fatal Drinks Being Sought

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Agents from the Ohio Department of Liquor Control joined Columbus and suburban Gahanna police today in the search for a man who dispensed fatal drinks from a parked car.

Two men died after drinking what police said was represented to them as 180 proof grain alcohol. Coroner Robert A. Evans said the deaths apparently were caused by acute alcoholism.

Lt. Robert Kelley of the Gahanna police said the men received the drinks from a man who was giving them out from a metal container in a car parked in a Gahanna parking lot last Saturday.

Nixon Aides' Plans Aim At Crime In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's top advisers have drafted a package of proposals, including the hiring of perhaps another 1,000 policemen, for a crackdown on criminals in the capital, where many residents fear to walk the streets after dark.

The package also will recommend the appointment of more judges and other court personnel, said aides to the President.

And, it may include a potentially controversial plan to allow judges to hold in "preventive detention" persons who they think might commit crimes if released on bail.

Gave Mitchell Order

Nixon ordered Atty. Gen. John Mitchell this week to map an urgent program against crime in the capital. He acted against a backdrop of statistics such as these:

—Major crimes in Washington during the past year rose nearly 28 per cent—209 homicides, 271 rape cases and more than 4,600 robberies, all record highs.

—The most startling increase has been in robberies. Last month alone police recorded 629 robberies, more than double the number in December 1967 and more than five times the number in December 1965.

Operation Find

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Plan Leads To Arrest Of Robbers

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —Two holdup men walked out of a downtown Philadelphia bank Jan. 2 with $10,599.

Eleven minutes later, police arrested two men and recovered $10,598.

The swift arrests were the result of Operation Find, a program started Sept. 18 whose full designation is Fugitive Interception Net Deployment. Police cars are sent to key locations such as bridges and expressway interchanges to watch escape routes.

Three minutes after the Jan. 2 holdup, an alarm flashed in the radio room at the center city police administration building. Two minutes later, the first police officer at the holdup scene radioed headquarters: "Two males . . . escape made in a 1962 Cadillac . . . License number Pennsylvania 14716."

Patrol cars from five divisions sped to preassigned locations, supplementing regular patrols, and a search began within the net.

A moment later in north central Philadelphia, two patrolmen spotted a 1962 white Cadillac with license number 1H6716. The car was stopped and officers found a canvas bag stuffed with cash in the back seat. The car's occupants were taken into custody.

If no one had been stopped 10 minutes after Operation Find was activated, the net would have been expanded.

The city is divided into 50 geographical sections with an operation plan for each under the program which is an idea of Police Commissioner Frank L. Rizzo.

To activate Find, Rizzo said, "a crime of major importance must be committed; a vehicle must be used in the escape, and a fairly good description of the vehicle and occupants must be given to the police radio room."

"Radio personnel understand the seriousness in using 35 to 45 police cars on one plan," said Michael R. Mangione who directs Find. "We use a checkerboard method in assigning police cars to pertinent posts in order to maintain effective police patrols during the period Operation Find is in effect."

Police records show find has led to 27 apprehensions of people involved in 17 major crimes, including six bank robberies.

Repairs At Guilford Lake Will Cut Into Activities

GUILFORD LAKE — Repair of the dam at Guilford Lake State Park will curtail water activities next summer. Work is scheduled to begin early next month.

State Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel of Lisbon spoke to the Guilford Lake Civic Association Thursday night about plans for replacing the concrete facing on the inside of the earthen dam. He said he does not expect the water to be back to normal level by summer.

A siphon was placed in the lake last fall to drop the water level 16 feet for construction purposes. This is nine feet lower than the customary winter "draw down" to kill vegetation and prevent ice damage to docks.

Association members said most had anticipated that work would not be completed in time to have the lake full by summer.

The only complaint was that the state could have had the work completed by spring if it had started early in the fall.

Wetzel said the Department of Natural Resources also plans to drill five new wells around the lake.

Results of a survey showing 500 of some 600 Winona telephone exchange subscribers in favor of extended service with the Lisbon exchange will be forwarded to the General Telephone Co. of Ohio. Lisbon is in the Ohio Bell System.

Proposed gas service for the lake, street lighting and sewage problems also were discussed.

Mishaps Hurt Woman, Boy

An East Liverpool child and a Wellsville area woman suffered minor injuries in two traffic mishaps Thursday, police reported.

Keith Logan, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Logan of 1210 Erie St., suffered contusions and abrasions of the left foot, which was run over by a slow-moving auto on Maryland Ave. near East Elementary School, officers said.

The 1964 model two - door sedan was driven by E. Bonnie Armstrong, 48, of 171 Holliday St., who reported the youngster dashed from behind another auto into the path of her car. The woman said she was headed north on Maryland Ave. behind a school bus when the boy dashed into the street. He was taken to City Hospital by ambulance, treated and released.

Nettie Bell Noland, 62, of Wellsville RD 1 was taken to the hospital for treatment of an injured right knee after a collision on Pennsylvania Ave. at Boyce St. Thursday at 3:45 p.m., officers said.

The woman's 1963 sedan hit the rear of another 1963 sedan operated by Allen R. Hayhurst, 21, of 105 Indiana Ave., Chester, which was stopped for a traffic signal at the intersection. The woman told Patrolman Charles Coen her brakes failed.

Two cars were damaged in a mishap Thursday at Dresden Ave. and Smith St. The crash involved a 1964 convertible driven by Nancy Lee McMullen, 26, of Athens and a 1959 sedan operated by Robert Lee Anderson, 32, of 809 Commerce St., Wellsville. Anderson was driving north on Dresden Ave. and the woman was turning from Smith St. onto Dresden, officers said.

Operation Find

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Plan Leads To Arrest Of Robbers

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —Two holdup men walked out of a downtown Philadelphia bank Jan. 2 with $10,599.

Eleven minutes later, police arrested two men and recovered $10,598.

The swift arrests were the result of Operation Find, a program started Sept. 18 whose full designation is Fugitive Interception Net Deployment. Police cars are sent to key locations such as bridges and expressway interchanges to watch escape routes.

Three minutes after the Jan. 2 holdup, an alarm flashed in the radio room at the center city police administration building. Two minutes later, the first police officer at the holdup scene radioed headquarters: "Two males . . . escape made in a 1962 Cadillac . . . License number Pennsylvania 14716."

Patrol cars from five divisions sped to preassigned locations, supplementing regular patrols, and a search began within the net.

A moment later in north central Philadelphia, two patrolmen spotted a 1962 white Cadillac with license number 1H6716. The car was stopped and officers found a canvas bag stuffed with cash in the back seat. The car's occupants were taken into custody.

If no one had been stopped 10 minutes after Operation Find was activated, the net would have been expanded.

The city is divided into 50 geographical sections with an operation plan for each under the program which is an idea of Police Commissioner Frank L. Rizzo.

To activate Find, Rizzo said, "a crime of major importance must be committed; a vehicle must be used in the escape, and a fairly good description of the vehicle and occupants must be given to the police radio room."

"Radio personnel understand the seriousness in using 35 to 45 police cars on one plan," said Michael R. Mangione who directs Find. "We use a checkerboard method in assigning police cars to pertinent posts in order to maintain effective police patrols during the period Operation Find is in effect."

Police records show find has led to 27 apprehensions of people involved in 17 major crimes, including six bank robberies.

Repairs At Guilford Lake Will Cut Into Activities

GUILFORD LAKE — Repair of the dam at Guilford Lake State Park will curtail water activities next summer. Work is scheduled to begin early next month.

State Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel of Lisbon spoke to the Guilford Lake Civic Association Thursday night about plans for replacing the concrete facing on the inside of the earthen dam. He said he does not expect the water to be back to normal level by summer.

A siphon was placed in the lake last fall to drop the water level 16 feet for construction purposes. This is nine feet lower than the customary winter "draw down" to kill vegetation and prevent ice damage to docks.

Association members said most had anticipated that work would not be completed in time to have the lake full by summer.

The only complaint was that the state could have had the work completed by spring if it had started early in the fall.

Wetzel said the Department of Natural Resources also plans to drill five new wells around the lake.

Results of a survey showing 500 of some 600 Winona telephone exchange subscribers in favor of extended service with the Lisbon exchange will be forwarded to the General Telephone Co. of Ohio. Lisbon is in the Ohio Bell System.

Proposed gas service for the lake, street lighting and sewage problems also were discussed.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How do I wash organdy curtains?

A. — Soak white organdy, dimity, or net curtains in lukewarm water before washing. Even the most immaculate housekeeper will usually be amazed at the amount of dirt that has accumulated in the sheer curtains in a short period of time. Lift the curtains out carefully, and drain off the dirty water. Wash in heavy lukewarm suds, rinse thoroughly, and roll into towels. Iron when partly dry.

Q. — How can I do a good job of cleaning a tile fireplace?

A. — Try sprinkling salt on the tiles, then rubbing with half a raw lemon, following this with a good scrubbing with soap and water.

Q. — How can I effect a good temporary repair on a cracked pane of window glass?

A. — The cracked pane can be temporarily held together and weather - proofed with a coat of fresh clear shellac on the inside.

Q. — How can I polish old faucets or other plumbing fixtures that appear hopelessly corroded and pitted?

A. — Try using automobile rubbing compound scrubbed on vigorously with a damp cloth. A heavy string coated with the abrasive compound can be drawn back and forth around narrow curves or in tight corners.

Cranberries and apples color our fruit stalls today. So, of course, it's time to make our annual cranberry-apple pie.

But let's make a pie that's different this time by adding wheat germ to the pastry and crunchy topping. The nutlike flavor and texture of the wheat germ are a plus. So also is the added food value in them.

CRANBERRY APPLE PIE

Wheat Germ Pastry
¾ cup plus 2 tablespoons unsifted flour
2 tablespoons wheat germ
½ teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons shortening
2-3 tablespoons cold water

Measure flour, wheat germ and salt into bowl. Stir well to blend. Cut in half of shortening until mixture resembles coarse meal, then remaining shortening until particles are the size of small peas. Add water a little at a time, mixing lightly with fork. Shape dough into firm ball. Roll out to 12-inch circle on lightly floured cloth - covered board. Place loosely in 9-inch pie pan. Cut 1 inch larger than pan. Fold edge under. Moisten rim of pan. Flute edge. Fill with cranberry - apple filling. Bake at 400 degrees for 20 minutes. Sprinkle with crunchy wheat germ topping. Bake at 400 degrees for 15-20 minutes longer. Cover crust with foil if it is browning too quickly.

Cranberry Apple Filling

1¼ cups granulated sugar
¼ cup unsifted flour
½ teaspoon cinnamon
3 cups (3 large) peeled, sliced apples
2 cups whole cranberries

Combine sugar, flour and cinnamon. Cut cranberries into halves. Place half the apples in pastry - lined pan. Cover with half the cranberries. Sprinkle with half the sugar mixture. Repeat layers, ending with sugar mixture.

Crunchy Wheat Germ Topping

½ cup wheat germ
¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Combine wheat germ and brown sugar. Cut in butter until well-blended.

Celery stalks, Parmesan and Mozzarella cheese and oregano are popular flavors and seasoning with Italian cooks. Why not follow their advice and use them to make this interesting beef and celery roll? You will enjoy it.

ITALIAN BEEF AND CELERY ROLL

2 pounds flank steak
1¼ teaspoons onion salt
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
5 Florida celery ribs
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese
½ teaspoon ground oregano
1 package (8 oz.) Mozzarella cheese, sliced
1 tablespoon salad oil
1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
¼ teaspoon instant garlic powder

With knife, score steak on one side. Rub onion salt and black pepper into both sides of meat. Cut celery into lengths the width of meat and arrange over scored side.

Sprinkle with bread crumbs, Parmesan cheese and oregano. Top with Mozzarella cheese, reserving 2 slices. Roll, secure with string or toothpicks. Heat oil in heavy skillet. Brown meat.

Remove from heat; add tomato sauce, ¼-cup water and garlic powder. Return to heat and simmer, covered for 1½ hours, turning occasionally. Ten minutes before cooking time is up place reserved cheese on top of meat. Six to 8 portions.

If you have an urge to bake a coffee cake, try this new recipe. It is quite simple but rich in flavor. It uses biscuit mix, also instant coffee, dark corn syrup, chopped nuts and dates.

Coffee-Date Breakfast Cake

¾ cup coarsely chopped dates
¼ cup chopped nuts
1-3 cup dark corn syrup
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon instant coffee powder
2 cups biscuit mix
2 tablespoons sugar
1 egg
¾ cup milk
2 tablespoons corn oil

Mix together dates, nuts, corn syrup, lemon juice and instant coffee powder. Set aside. Measure biscuit mix into mixing bowl. Add sugar, egg, milk and corn oil. Beat 30 seconds, using medium speed of electric mixer or 75 strokes by hand.

Spread evenly in one greased 9-inch layer cake pan. Spoon date mixture on top. Bake in 400-degree oven until cake tests done, 20 to 25 minutes.

metal tank about 18 feet tall and 10-12 feet in circumference.

The witness said the bottom half of the tank sailed 400 feet up the Ohio River while the top hurled down river and bounced four times before landing on a truck. The truck was destroyed and many cars in the area were covered with a soot-like paste hurled by the rupture.

Immediately after the blast the area appeared covered with smoke, he said, but actually it was fumes.

The fumes, smelling something like dead fish, apparently came from a second tank pierced by a flying object. Although the fumes quickly dissipated, as a precaution sheriff's deputies halted traffic on Ohio 7 and stopped a freight train for a time.

Damage was confined to the immediate area of the blast and no fire resulted. Officials said an estimate of damage would not be available until later today.

The company said all production units, except the damaged one, resumed normal operations about three hours after the accident.

The witness said the bottom half of the tank sailed 400 feet up the Ohio River while the top hurled down river and bounced four times before landing on a truck. The truck was destroyed and many cars in the area were covered with a soot-like paste hurled by the rupture.

Immediately after the blast the area appeared covered with smoke, he said, but actually it was fumes.

The fumes, smelling something like dead fish, apparently came from a second tank pierced by a flying object. Although the fumes quickly dissipated, as a precaution sheriff's deputies halted traffic on Ohio 7 and stopped a freight train for a time.

Damage was confined to the immediate area of the blast and no fire resulted. Officials said an estimate of damage would not be available until later today.

The company said all production units, except the damaged one, resumed normal operations about three hours after the accident.

Union Carbide employs 380 workers at the plant. Plastics are the main product with bulk chemicals being a secondary product.

2 Are Installed During Meeting Of Citizens Here

The Rev. D. Ross Salisbury Jr., rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, installed Lester Hickman as first vice president and Miss Edna Meanor as corresponding secretary during the meeting of East Liverpool Senior Citizens Thursday in the parish hall.

A dinner was featured for 48 members with birthdays in November, December and January.

Mrs. George Marshall, a guest, sang two selections and accompanied herself on the auto - harp. The thought for the day was given by Mrs. Edith Nicols. Mrs. Hazel McCreary received the corsage.

The visitation committee reported on the sick and shut-ins. The February committee includes Mrs. Martha Cunningham, Mrs. Jessie Looman, Mrs. Leota Cochran and Mrs. Emma Thompson. There were 17 present.

Fines Levied On 5 Drivers

Municpal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today decreed fines for five motorists cited by local police and the Ohio Highway Patrol.

Two pickup truck drivers were fined $10 and costs each on charges of driving vehicles without tail lights. They were David S. Dray, 33, of Beaver Crest St., RD 3, and Ronald L. Talbot, 27, of Grimms Bridge Rd., both cited Tuesday night at 8 on St. Clair Ave. at Cain St.

Carl N. Howard, 19, of Cannons Mills Rd. paid a fine of $10 and costs on a charge of operating an unsafe vehicle. Cited Jan. 16 on Route 30 by the patrol, he told the court the auto now has been repaired.

Joseph Perrotta, 50, of New Cumberland Route 2 was fined $15 and costs after pleading guilty to a charge of speeding 75 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." He was cited Thursday at 11:55 a. m.

Bernard E. Beaver, 22, of Sherwood Ave. was fined $15 and costs on a charge of operating an auto with fictitious registration. He was cited by the patrol Jan. 21 at 9:15 a.m. on Route 170.

Beaver told the court he bought an auto early in January, but the seller did not furnish a certificate of title, so he was unable to obtain tags. He said he was returning the auto to the seller, using plates issued for another car, when he was cited by the patrol.

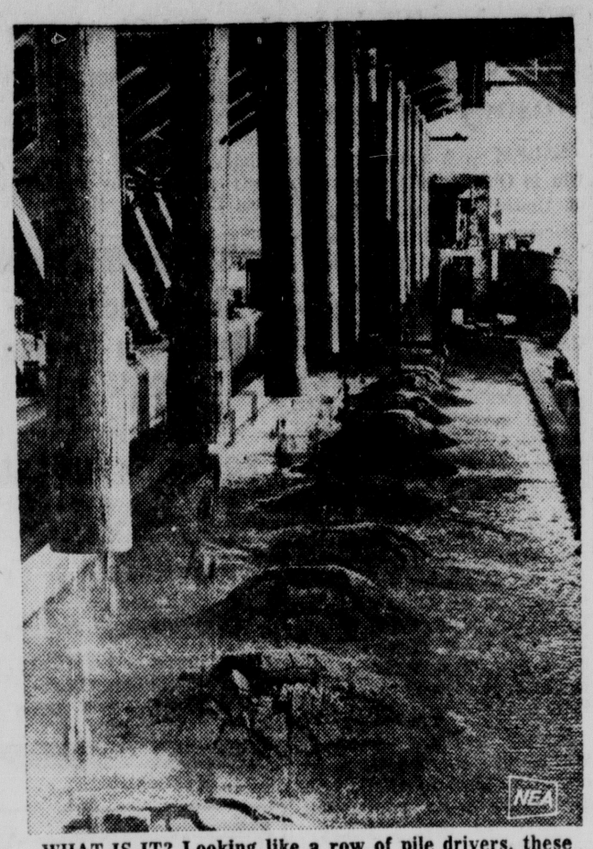
No action was taken on a charge in which Winona Gae Ferguson, 32, of Bell School Rd. was charged with driving an auto with a defective exhaust. She was cited by the patrol on old Route 30 Jan. 18. The judge said the citation was "confusing" because at one point it showed the charge was filed in a County Court at Lisbon but in another spot the defendant was directed to appear in the local court.

Court To Ask Lawyer For Hanoverton Man

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff said today he will ask Common Pleas Court in Lisbon to appoint counsel to defend James L. Sturgill of Lisbon Rd., Hanoverton, facing two charges of issuing $10 checks to an East Liverpool market in late November without having sufcient funds on hand in his bank account.

Sturgill was without counsel when he returned to court this morning for a scheduled hearing. He pleaded a lack of funds. The judge then continued the case until Tuesday and said he will seek counsel for the defendant in the meantime. Sturgill's $500 bond was continued.

Sturgill's accused of cashing the checks Nov. 22 and Nov. 25 at the Loblaw Market on Dresden Ave. They were written on the Hanoverton branch of the Farmers National Bank at Salem, according to affidavits signed by Ronald Crognale, store manager.



WHAT IS IT? Looking like a row of pile drivers, these tubes are part of the workings of a giant floating machine operating in the harbor of Ijmuiden, the Netherlands. The machine sucks up sand from the sea and purifies it. The sand—minus its salt content—is then used for construction work in Amsterdam.

$26,680 Set As Goal For Cancer Fund

LISBON — A goal of $26,680 was set for Columbiana County during a meeting here Thursday night of the executive board of the Cancer Fund. The figure is $3,680 higher than last year.

Chairmen for the drive, to be conducted in April, will be announced next month.

Postmaster Samuel W. Brown of East Liverpool conducted the meeting.

Dr. William Kolozsi reported on the professional phase of the program.

Mrs. Jane Calhoun, executive secretary of the county chapter of the American Cancer Society, said those interested in serving as volunteer workers should contact his or her district or township chairman or the office at Lisbon.

Thirteen members of the board were present Thursday night.

It is said the Glastonbury thorn always blossomed at Christmas time until adoption of the Gregorian calendar. Some used this to contend the calendar should not have been changed.

City Commission Holds Hearing In Zoning Proposal

The City Planning - Commission deferred a decision Thursday night after conducting the required public hearing on a request for a change in zoning classification on a Dresden Ave. property.

Frank Mangano, an officer of the Central Service Co. and a member of the commission, filed the application for the change on a vacant lot on the east side of Dresden Ave. immediately adjacent to the new Post Office — site of the former Faulk Building. He seeks a change from a B-5 classification (central business district) to B-2 (community shopping center).

Mangano told the commission he expects to erect an auto salesroom on the site. Such a structure is permitted under a B-2 classfication but not under the present B-5 classification.

The commission will rule later on the application and then advise Council of its action. Council is required to hold a public hearing and take legislative action before such a change can be made official. The meeting was attended by James Grafton, Mangano, John Parsons and Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey, all members of the commission, and Planning Coordinator Don Eckert.

Nabors Reaches For Another Rung

Cecil Smith

So Nabors is scrapping "Gomer Pyle," one of the most successful shows in modern television. In its five years on the air, "Gomer" consistently has ridden at the top of the rating poles, often No. 1.

NABORS is trading in Gomer for a weekly hour variety show in which he can sing and dance as well as clown. The show will be taped with an audience and will ride the CBS air next season, preferably at an early hour.

Aside from that, Jim said he really doesn't know what the format of the show will be. It will be produced by the two young producers of "Gomer Pyle," Duke Vincent and Bruce Johnson, and will be directed by the veteran Jack Donohue.

Nabors is taking along his two sidekicks from "Gomer," Frank Sutton and Ronnie Schell. He said present plans are for the show to include a lengthy comedy sketch he can do with Sutton and Schell and perhaps a guest star, fitted within the variety format much as Jackie Gleason uses "The Honeymooners."

"IT MAY HAVE a continuing character but it won't be Gomer," said Nabors. "Of course, it will talk like Gomer, because that's the only way I know how to talk."

This is no sudden decision. Nabors long has planned that, after five years of "Gomer," he had to move to something else — "reach for another rung on the ladder, either up or down."

"We talked about a Broadway show and I've been offered several movies," said Jim, "but it got down to what you think you want to be — an actor or an entertainer. I want to entertain.

"I DON'T THINK I'm much of an actor. The only part I ever played was 'Gomer.' I'm the most surprised person around that I'm successful anyway. I haven't got much voice, I can't really sing that well. I can't act much. I shave this face every morning and I sure know I'm not getting by on looks.

"But ever since I was singing down at the Horn in Santa Monica, where Andy Griffith saw me and asked me to play that ol' country boy in his series, I've liked to get up in front of people and entertain.

"I'm gonna make a movie — maybe this spring if the script is ready. It's called 'A Hero for Henry' — and I'm the hero. Imagine me, a hero! It's a Western about a Southern boy, not like 'Gomer,' a well-educated boy.

"I WAS in a movie once, 'Take Her, She's Mine.' Played a beatnik. Hair all over my face. Played a scene with Jimmy Stewart and after it I heard the director say: 'That's the worst voice I ever heard in my life!'

"Told all the folks back home in Sylacauga, Ala., I was in the movie and they all want to see it. They couldn't recognize me with that hair on my face and they'd dubbed another voice in for mine. People down there believe I made it up that I was in that movie."

Nabors feels that his successful specials, like "Friends and Nabors," have been trial runs for what he wants to do.

"SOMEBODY asked me the other day if I had so much money I could afford to walk away from 'Gomer'," he said. "I told him I didn't need much money and that's why I could afford to gamble. I might fall falt on my face, but I feel it's a thing I've got to try.

Democrats Hold Joint Meeting

Forty - five attended a joint meeting of the East Liverpool Democratic Central Committee and the Men's Democratic Club Thursday night at the Ohio Valley Gas Co. building.

Keith McKinney and Richard Winters were named co-chairmen of a membership committee. A letter was read from Don R. Gosney of Columbiana, county chairman, urging the group to seek to get young people active in the party. Council President Norman Bucher and Councilmen Frank Duffy and Donal Burcham discussed the upcoming campaign for the May primary election.

Joe Lomba discussed voter complacency in the last several elections, as evdenced by the larger number of non-voters. Phil Miraglata outlined the need for a new East Liverpool - Chester Bridge. Joseph A. Winters, chairman, presided.

Former Resident Paid Recognition

Malcolm W. (Mac) Bolles, an East Liverpool native, has been honored on completion of 25 years' service with the Albuquerque (N.M.) Publishing Co.

Bolles now is advertising director of the company, which publishes the morning Journal and evening Tribune in the New Mexico city.

He started his newspaper cateer in the display advertising department of The Review and worked for the Charleston (W. Va.) Daily Mail and the Sante Fe (N.M.) New Mexican before joining the Albuquerque firm in 1944.

Midland Delegation Attends Legion Rally

Woodrow Pflugh, Beaver County commander, and Mrs. Pflugh; Steve Crano, Post 481 commander, and Mrs. Crano; Dobert Dick; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Pat Cody comprised the delegation.

Cody, who is commandant of the Pennsylvania Marine Corps League, is attending a staff meeting of the league at the South Gate Motel in Arlington, Va., today and Saturday.

Kiwanis Club Enrolls Parsons As Member

John Parsons of Curry St., general manager of the Parsons Coal Co., was enrolled as a member of the Kiwanis Club during the luncheon meeting Thursday at the Travelers Hotel.

The meaning of Kiwanis to a new member was outlined by Dan Myers of Lisbon, Kiwanis lieutenant governor, who made his official visit here for 1969.

Myers also discussed the programs and goals of the service organization for the year and committee work.

Winning Ticket Party Objective, Gosney Stresses

SALEM — A ticket that can win in Ohio in 1970 is the aim of United Democrats, Don R. Gosney, Columbiana County Democratic chairman, said Wednesday night at the Timberlanes to a group of businessmen interested in strengthening the party in Ohio.

"We want proven winners as candidates to fill a ticket strong in the governor's slot clear through to the last office on the ticket," he said.

Gosney said it is rumored that the Democratic group has candidates already for governor, senator and attorney general and is seeking strong candidates for all other state offices. The plan of this group, he said, is to finance candidates also for state Senate and House of Representatives to assure a Democratic legislature.

Gosney told the group he was needed for five years because President Johnson did not give Ohio a major appointment. "I have not seen a Buckeye named to anything in the Nixon administration," he declared.

"I did see that the new president wanted to dump National Chairman Ray Bliss and this probably would have occurred except for the pressure from people who know a good chairman when they see one," he added.

Low Bid On Airport

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The apparent low bid of $589.226 for general construction of Ohio University's new airport near Albany, west of Athens, has been submitted by the Rolland Getz Co. of Mansfield.

Nabors Reaches For Another Rung

Cecil Smith

So Nabors is scrapping "Gomer Pyle," one of the most successful shows in modern television. In its five years on the air, "Gomer" consistently has ridden at the top of the rating poles, often No. 1.

NABORS is trading in Gomer for a weekly hour variety show in which he can sing and dance as well as clown. The show will be taped with an audience and will ride the CBS air next season, preferably at an early hour.

Aside from that, Jim said he really doesn't know what the format of the show will be. It will be produced by the two young producers of "Gomer Pyle," Duke Vincent and Bruce Johnson, and will be directed by the veteran Jack Donohue.

Nabors is taking along his two sidekicks from "Gomer," Frank Sutton and Ronnie Schell. He said present plans are for the show to include a lengthy comedy sketch he can do with Sutton and Schell and perhaps a guest star, fitted within the variety format much as Jackie Gleason uses "The Honeymooners."

"IT MAY HAVE a continuing character but it won't be Gomer," said Nabors. "Of course, it will talk like Gomer, because that's the only way I know how to talk."

This is no sudden decision. Nabors long has planned that, after five years of "Gomer," he had to move to something else — "reach for another rung on the ladder, either up or down."

"We talked about a Broadway show and I've been offered several movies," said Jim, "but it got down to what you think you want to be — an actor or an entertainer. I want to entertain.

"I DON'T THINK I'm much of an actor. The only part I ever played was 'Gomer.' I'm the most surprised person around that I'm successful anyway. I haven't got much voice, I can't really sing that well. I can't act much. I shave this face every morning and I sure know I'm not getting by on looks.

"But ever since I was singing down at the Horn in Santa Monica, where Andy Griffith saw me and asked me to play that ol' country boy in his series, I've liked to get up in front of people and entertain.

"I'm gonna make a movie — maybe this spring if the script is ready. It's called 'A Hero for Henry' — and I'm the hero. Imagine me, a hero! It's a Western about a Southern boy, not like 'Gomer,' a well-educated boy.

"I WAS in a movie once, 'Take Her, She's Mine.' Played a beatnik. Hair all over my face. Played a scene with Jimmy Stewart and after it I heard the director say: 'That's the worst voice I ever heard in my life!'

"Told all the folks back home in Sylacauga, Ala., I was in the movie and they all want to see it. They couldn't recognize me with that hair on my face and they'd dubbed another voice in for mine. People down there believe I made it up that I was in that movie."

Nabors feels that his successful specials, like "Friends and Nabors," have been trial runs for what he wants to do.

"SOMEBODY asked me the other day if I had so much money I could afford to walk away from 'Gomer'," he said. "I told him I didn't need much money and that's why I could afford to gamble. I might fall falt on my face, but I feel it's a thing I've got to try.

Warning Issued On Solicitations To McCraw Fund

A report of unauthorized solicitation of funds for Paul McCraw, ailing East End boy, has been filed with Chester and East Liverpool police by officials of The Review.

A Chester man and a College St. woman have advised authorities a youth, aged 12 to 14 with reddish hair, has solicited money from them, claiming he has been authorized by The Review to collect such money.

Paul is at home on a brief "leave" from Children's Hospital, Pittsburgh. He arrived Wednesday night and will return today for another treatment on an artificial kidney machine. He also is due to spend next weekend at home as a way of boosting his morale.

More than $2,000 has been received by The Review to help pay for hospital costs for the boy as a result of a story by Robert Popp, staff writer, which suggested residents mail the youth Christmas cards.

Many young people have collected money in the neighborhoods and adults have obtained money in stores and industries, and turned the receipts over to the newspaper.

However, no one was specifically authorized to undertake the collections, and until the report of the youth within the last week, no suspicion of improper solicitations had been raised.

Anyone solicited by a youth of this description should immediately notify officers, police said.

Seeks Leaders' Advice

New Democrat Chairman Maps Broad Party Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the 17 days since he was named Democratic National chairman, Oklahoma Sen. Fred Harris says he has written 4,000 party leaders asking advice, set up more than half a dozen task forces and laid broad plans for party action in many fields.

And the 38-year-old Harris, opposed for the top party post by some who felt a fulltime chairman was needed, indicated in an interview he was just getting started.

"I've got to dissipate all this energy some way and I might as well do it in a useful way," Harris said.

"Last year I wrote a book, I was in the Kerner Commission I was cochairman of Hubert Humphrey's preconvention campaign and I think if you would ask (Democratic Leader) Mike Mansfield he would tell you I was one of the more active senators," he said.

"This year, I won't write a book, I won't be on the Kerner Commission, and I won't be Humphrey's campaign manager, so I'll do this instead. Besides," he concluded, "I feel deeply about all of these issues."

At the moment, Harris said, he is sifting names for a Democratic Policy Committee and two reform groups he expects to appoint soon.

Already established are seven or eight unannounced task forces working on such subjects as wiping out the party's $10 million-or-so debt, party organization and the 1970 congressional elections.

"I expect within two weeks to appoint the commission on party structure and delegate selection" which will propose changes in delegate selection for the 1972 Democratic National Convention, he said.

Coincidentally, about the time arris said this, he was urged to act promptly by Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, who headed an unofficial group last summer which recommended such a commission.

"I am concerned that they're moving too slowly," Hughes told reporters at a get-acquainted session in his office.

He warned that the upcoming close of legislative sessions in 16 states might cripple the reform effort, which in many instances will require changes in state laws.

One innovation he is planning is a Social Action Commission, "to find a way that the existing structure can stimulate and give assistance to individual private, nongovernmental programs such as instruction, tutoring and that sort of thing."

"I don't think it's ever been done before," Harris said.

Harris detailed these plans for the National Committee:

Organization—He has task forces studying the entire structure and all of its personnel, plans to operate the committee personally with the aid of several assistants and plans to set up "a fulltime, year-round field organization" to help state and local parties strengthen themselves.

Finances—Despite the party's campaign deficit and ambitious plans to raise millions to pay for programs, Harris insists "We're not not worried about things like that." Besides the task force studying finances and he hopes to set up a program to bring in thousands of small contributors who would regularly supply funds.

Elections—The task forces are already at work on planning for 1970, one concentrating on congressional elections, the other on state and gubernatorial contests where Democrats hope to make big gains. It also plans to look at the many important local races in 1969 "and see if we should get involved after the primaries."

Bill Would Give Police, Firemen OK To Unionize

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — A bill to give local policemen and firemen in West Virginia the right to unionize and bargain collectively — but not to strike — was introduced in the House today.

Del. Donald L. Kopp, D-Harrison, and Del. Fred A. Grewe Jr., R-Ohio, co-sponsored the measure.

The bill provides most of the conventional machinery of collective bargaining on wages, hours and working conditions. It makes it mandatory for a city to bargain with a union or other employe organization representing a majority of policemen or firemen.

If a city doubted the validity of a petition purporting to show a union spoke for a majority in seeking to become bargaining agent, the city could ask the state labor commissioner to conduct a secret-ballot election.

The bill applies equally to policemen and firemen employed by counties, although there are few of these in the state.

Failure to reach agreement on employment terms would call for compulsory arbitration. The bill calls for submitting disagreements to an arbitration board whose decision would be binding.

A bill to overhaul the formula for allocating state aid to county school systems was introduced in both house of the legislature Thursday.

Flint, Mich., was known as "Vehicle City" about 1900, when it produced more than 100,000 horse - drawn wagons and carriages a year, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Youths' Anger, Frustrations Seen Key To Crime Solution

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation will have to find ways to answer the anger and frustrations of its youth if there is to be an ultimate solution to the crime and disorder ripping at the country's social fabric, according to the President's Commission on Violence.

The Commission, in an interim report made public Thursday, put much of the blame on the rising rate of violence on the nation's youth.

"The key to much of the violence in our society seems to lie with the young," the report said. "Our youth account for an ever-increasing percentage of crime, greater than their increasing percentage of the population.

"The thrust of much of the group protest and collective violence—on the campus, in the ghettoes, in the streets—is provided by our young people. It may be here, with tomorrow's generation, that much of the emphasis of our studies and the national response should be."

The progress report, which raised a number of questions, but answered few, was sent to former President Johnson Jan. 9, but not published until Thursday. Final conclusions and recommendations are expected this spring.

Assessing the magnitude of violence in America, the commission, headed by Milton Eisenhower, offered these statistics covering the past five years:

—Some 200 private acts of violence toward Negroes and civil rights workers have caused more than 20 deaths and 100 injuries.

—Hundreds of student outbursts, some resulting in the temporary shutdown of colleges and universities, police intervention, rioting, and property damage.

"The elimination of all violence in a free society is impossible," the commission said. "But the better control of illegitimate violence is an urgent imperative and one within our means to accomplish."

The commission, established in the wake of the assassination of the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, has set up seven task forces to deal with specific areas of crime and disorder.

Guardrail And Posts Damaged In Mishap

A Wintersville man complained of injuries, but apparently was not treated, after a truck accident on Route 7, just north of Route 213, at 11:45 a. m. Thursday.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Wintersville said S. P. Tatauella, 48, of 125 Anderson Dr., Wintersville, lost control of his 1962 auto carrier truck and it went off the right side of the road, damaging 150 feet of guardrail and smashing 12 posts belonging to the Highway Department.

Tatauella was not cited.

Post Office Haul Termed As 'Sizable'

HANOVERTON — Burglars got "a sizable amount" in stamps and cash Wednesday night from the post office safe, according to Josephine Furey, postmistress.

Sheriff's deputy Kent Garvey said the safe was "peeled" by professionals who left no fingerprints or other clues. A. E. Everhart, U.S. postal inspector from Steubenville, is in charge of the investigation.

The intruders entered through the furnace room window on the southwest side of the one-floor building on Market St., one block north of Route 30.

They sawed through two iron bars, then forced open a window.

Garvey said the safe job was the work of professionals. They knocked off the combination and handle, then peeled open the door, beginning at the upper left hand corner.

Garvey said the thieves evidently left by the side door, which opens from the inside without a key.

Officers said Wayne and Jean Hillyer, who live near by, told them they were up until about 3 yesterday morning and noticed nothing unusual. The Hillers said they did see a car drive by on Market St. several times late Tuesday nght.

Ohio Senator Resigns, Gets New State Job

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio General Assembly ended the fourth week of the session Thursday with the unexpected resignation of Sen. Harry V. Jump.

Twenty minutes following his resignation, the Willard Republican representing the 13th District, was sworn in as Ohio's new insurance director.

He received a $16,000 salary boost by taking the job.

Jump, in the middle of his first four-year term as a senator, was paid at the old scale of $8,000 a year. His new post pays $24,960.

Huron County Sheriff John Borgia reported Thursday he had been offered Jump's Senate seat by Senate Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray R-3 Piqua. Borgia said he turned it down because he likes law enforcement and wanted security for his family.

In the Senate, a bill to increase the power of the Ohio Civil Rights Commission was introduced. It would prohibit racial discrimination in the state or rental of one-or-two family homes, which are now exempt under the Ohio Fair Housing law.

In the House, three expected bills were introduced. One would provide a code of ethics for legislators and their employes.

The second would prohibit the Department of Natural Resources from going ahead with plans to put a 50 cent swimming fee in effect at state parks this summer.

The third would permit abortions in cases of rape, incest or when there was a probability that the child would be born deformed.

Another House proposal would permit the state to buy school buses for schools throughout the state. Individual school districts would be allowed to buy through competitive bidding if they wanted.

Boy Killed By Truck

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Patrick Fuller, 10, of Toledo was killed Thursday when he fell under the rear wheels of a truck. Police said the boy had grabbed the passing truck and held on for about 15 feet before falling.

Furrowed Brow In Style

Generation Gap Widens

By HAL BOYLE

You're not in step with the times today unless you have a furrowed brow from worrying about the so-called "generation gap."

This is one of those wrap-up sociological terms, such as "meaningful dialogue," which have become so common in our society lately, phrases which bloom madly in cocktail party conversations for a few months or perhaps years, then die out.

Perhaps, however, before both these currently popular phrases go out of style and depart into the limbo of language, we should hold a "meaningful dialogue" on the "generation gap." Just what is that gap? It refers to the deepening gulf—oops, here's another one of those cozy intellectual terms—between America's young and its middle-aged.

One might dismiss this gap tolerantly as a mere matter of a difference in age, and let it go at that. After all, girls and women, separated by 25 years, don't usually go to pajama parties together: men separated by 25 years don't usually play handball or tennis together.

But the present generation gap goes beyond the normal gap which historically has separated all previous generations from one another. The gap is deeper, wider, and reflects a bitter emotional estrangement more than a mere difference in age.

Every generation is something of a mystery to the one that it follows and the one that it precedes. But customarily the estrangement is the result of friendly misunderstandings and there are areas of reconciliation and avenues that lead to mutual acceptance.

The danger of the present generation gap is that there appear to be fewer touching points of agreement than existed in the past. Today's youth seems to regard the middle-aged not as misunderstanding friends but as actual or potential enemies, relics of an outworn social system who seek not to help them but to crush them. Their nowtrite slogan eloquently voices this suspicion: "Don't trust anybody over 30."

This slogan is peculiarly annoying to a modern father. He doesn't feel he is inviting his son or daughter to dwell in a rusting rut but to a better way of life he himself did not know when young. He is bewildered by the repudiation of his own values by his own children.

Scarred by a great depression and a great world war, he graduated from school or college into a world that had no job waiting for him and appeared to be indifferent to his welfare. Therefore he puts a high premium now on comfort and security, which he has achieved after hard, struggling years.

But his son today, with a job waiting for him and a welcome mat spread for him by the world, often doesn't want either that job or to dwell in that world as it stands.

The rebelling youth of today don't seem to know either. If they know their real aims, they are unable to state them clearly. Do they merely want to tear down what exists and blindly trust that something better will, without plan, inevitably arise? To the middle-aged such an attitude is a gamble in ignorance, a gamble doomed to failure.

There the generation gap stands now, and if anyone knows a sure way to end that gap by building fresh bonds of trust and affection between the generations he has yet to express it in "a meaningful dialogue."

Judge Jails Area Driver

A LaCroft man was fined and jailed Thursday by County Judge Barry Dickson at East Palestine for driving while intoxicated.

Elmer A. Smith, 48, of 5th Ave. was fined $150 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail, with his license suspended for 30 days. He was cited Jan. 23 on the Y. & O. Rd.

Dudley J. Murphy of 314 Market St. was fined $25 and costs for driving without meeting the requirements of the financial responsibility law. He had been penalized in Municipal Court for driving while intoxicated and ordered to fulfill the law.

Others fined yesterday were Robert J. Coie of Staunton Ave., $15 and costs for driving on the wrong side of the road; Bruce D. Smith of 222 W. 7th St. and Kenneth Cochran of Lisbon RD 3, $15 and costs for speeding; John Wolfe of East Liverpool RD 4, $10 and costs for lack of a taillight on a trailer.

Virginia M. Rosenberg of Valley Dr., Hillcrest, $25 and costs for improper passing and $10 and costs for driving with an expired permit, and Jack E. Shook of N. Market St., East Palestine, $20 and costs for speeding.

Richard T. Horsfall of W. Main St., East Palestine, forfeited a $25 bond for failure to have an operator's license.

ANN LANDERS

Light-Fingered Lovely

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I've been dating Joyce for six weeks. She's attractive, not educated, but she really knows how to make a guy feel important.

On our third date Joyce told me she had been in a detention home for picking up items in a department store. Last week we visited my brother in the hospital. The next day the nurse called to ask if I had taken Hal's watch "for safekeeping." It was on his night table and now they can't find it.

Last night when I got home from a date with Joyce, my wallet was missing. I'm not concerned about the $40. It's the credit cards and driver's license I need.

I could fall in love with Joyce if I let myself go. So far we've just exchanged a few kisses. I hate to think what I'm thinking. Any advice? — NO I.D.

Dear No: If you've been exchanging kisses with this girl I suggest you count your teeth. Joyce is either a kleptomaniac or a thief, probably the latter, since kleptomaniacs steal items thay have no use for.

Before you propose, I hope you will consider what life would be like for the kiddies when their mother is in the klink.

School Siren

Dear Ann: I'm 15 and already 38-24-38.

My aunt gives me her nice clothes when she gets tired of them. In the last batch was a beautiful cocktail sweater. I took off the beads and it looks great. The only thing is, Ann, the sweater is cut sort of low. It's not too tight and I'm careful not to bend over, but like I said, it has a low neckline.

I wore the sweater to school last week and two of my best friends said it looked "cheap." I don't know if they're jealous or if they said it for my own good.

It's a very expensive sweater and I'd like to keep wearing it, but I don't want to wreck my reputation. Can you advise me? — JACKPOT JANE.

Dear Jackpot: Wear a white blouse under the sweater and you'll even be able to bend over if you want to. Cocktail necklines are not appropriate for school.

Slum Clearance

Dear Ann: I'm a girl, 16, not beautiful but better-than-average looking. Everyone says I have a nice personality. The trouble is I don't get asked out because I live in a dump. This neighborhood is so crummy you can't believe it.

Several guys at school seem to like me but the minute I give them my address they disappear forever. Mom and Dad are divorced and we have trouble paying the rent, so please don't tell me we should move. I know we should but we can't afford to.

Just tell me what a girl is supposed to do when she can't get dates because she lives in a slum. — CHICKEN POX.

Dear Chicken: Many a gal who lives in a swanky suburb has given her address to a boy and never heard from him again. Boys are interested in good company and they'll go any place to date a girl who is appealing. The problem is you, Toots, not your address. Take inventory and find out what's missing.

-:-

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Keep Rug Backing Clean

DEAR HELOISE: I learned the hard way. If you have throw rugs or scatter rugs with what they call a non-skid finish on the backing please keep this backing CLEAN!

Heloise

Use a vacuum cleaner, or suds them with a damp sponge once in awhile.

Remember, these rugs are usually put on highly polished floors and the backing absorbs the wax.

Every time I sweep, I turn the rug over and sweep the back, PLUS, I never wax the floor where I leave my throw rugs now.

Agree 100 per cent!

I checked this with the Injury Control Program of the Food and Drug Administration in Washington, D.C. They say you brought out a good point.

Hope all of your bones have healed. And thanks a million for cluing us in.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: To me, game birds — partridge, grouse, duck — haven't much natural flavor to them. But I found a way to add that something extra.

I use a package of herbed bread stuffing and toss it with salad dressing. After stuffing the birds, I brush more salad dressing over them, wrap them in foil and bake as usual

You can use a different flavor dressing for the stuffing and another for basting. It's fast, easy and indescribably delicious.

LYNN SENEY.

DEAR HELOISE: I decided to try your hint of sprinkling clothes on the line with my garden hose on fine spray. It worked beautifully, but when my five-year-old son saw me doing it he wanted to help.

I told him "no", but that he could water my pansies next to the garage.

When I turned around with damp clothes in my arms, there he stood watering the dry, folded clothes in my laundry basket!

I screamed, "What are you doing?" And he very innocently said, "But Mama, you said I could water your panties."

MRS. ARLENE HALL.

DEAR HELOISE: I dampen a soft cloth and sprinkle talcum powder on it, then use this to rub over my steel sink to remove the dark spots. A factory man told me this.

MRS. O.COHN.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Did you ever think of cutting the top off a plastic bleach bottle and using it as a paint holder?

I cut it just below the handle and took the top part with the handle (leave the lid on) and put paint in it.

The top is so convenient to carry by the little handle when you are climbing up and down ladders.

KEN NEGREY.

DEAR HELOISE: While watching a maid change the linens on our bed at a motel recently, I learned a short cut to bed-making.

Then when she put the top sheet on, she simply tucked ends under at the same time.

Why hadn't I ever thought of that before? Saves tucking twice and lifting that heavy mattess.

MARIE GOODENOUGH.

DEAR HELOISE: If your child's last year's coat has become too short in the sleeves but fits O.K. elsewise, get busy and knit some ribbed cuffs.

Fasten them up under the edge of the sleeve and your coat looks smarter than it did when it was new.

MRS. ROY LESTER.

Police Computer Link Tied In With Network

A Teletype keyboard at police headquarters now is tied in with state and national networks, ready to send and receive information.

Delivered to headquarters last week, the equipment went into operation after it was linked with leased wires that give instant communication with headquarters in Columbus and Washington. The Ohio Highway Patrol operates the statewide network. Local police also have access to the National Crime Information Center in Washington, operated by the FBI.

The new system gives the local department access to hundreds of thousands of bits of information on stolen autos, wanted criminals, missing persons and property and other data. Local information also can be stored in the computer "memory" through use of the keyboard here.

10,000 County Maps To Become Available

LISBON — The Columbiana County engineer's office has placed an order for 10,000 of the new six-color county maps—5,000 in the 20-by-24-inch size and 5,000 of the 26-by-32-inch size.

Bert A. Dawson Jr., engineer, said they will be available on request at his office. Delivery is expected the latter part of March.

ANN LANDERS

Light-Fingered Lovely

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I've been dating Joyce for six weeks. She's attractive, not educated, but she really knows how to make a guy feel important.

On our third date Joyce told me she had been in a detention home for picking up items in a department store. Last week we visited my brother in the hospital. The next day the nurse called to ask if I had taken Hal's watch "for safekeeping." It was on his night table and now they can't find it.

Last night when I got home from a date with Joyce, my wallet was missing. I'm not concerned about the $40. It's the credit cards and driver's license I need.

I could fall in love with Joyce if I let myself go. So far we've just exchanged a few kisses. I hate to think what I'm thinking. Any advice? — NO I.D.

Dear No: If you've been exchanging kisses with this girl I suggest you count your teeth. Joyce is either a kleptomaniac or a thief, probably the latter, since kleptomaniacs steal items thay have no use for.

Before you propose, I hope you will consider what life would be like for the kiddies when their mother is in the klink.

School Siren

Dear Ann: I'm 15 and already 38-24-38.

My aunt gives me her nice clothes when she gets tired of them. In the last batch was a beautiful cocktail sweater. I took off the beads and it looks great. The only thing is, Ann, the sweater is cut sort of low. It's not too tight and I'm careful not to bend over, but like I said, it has a low neckline.

I wore the sweater to school last week and two of my best friends said it looked "cheap." I don't know if they're jealous or if they said it for my own good.

It's a very expensive sweater and I'd like to keep wearing it, but I don't want to wreck my reputation. Can you advise me? — JACKPOT JANE.

Detroit Upends Duquesne

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Beavers, seeking to become the second college basketball team to win 1,000 games, made it 995 with an easy 83-59 victory that left Portland the nation's only major team that hasn't won a game. The Pilots are 0-16.

Kentucky reached 1,000 wins earlier this month and Kansas, with 998, is in second place.

Coach Paul Valenti of Oregon State was worried about the game, mainly because Portland had won its last two homecoming games from the Beavers.

"Any time a team makes a special effort it can be tough," Valenti said, "and Portland has a habit of making a special effort against us."

The Pilots tried a zone but Oregon State shot over it at a 62.9 per cent clip in the first half to take a 47-28 lead. All five starters scored in double figures, paced by 17 apiece for Gary Freeman and Bill More, although Portland's Bill Ricks took game honors with 26.

The only member of The Associated Press' Top Twenty to see action Thursday night was 11th-ranked Duquesne, which bowed to Detroit and Olympic star Spencer Haywood 76-66. The 6-foot-8 Haywood, No. 4 scorer in the land, popped in 31 points, grabbed 16 rebounds and blocked numerous shots.

Duquesne, behind by 10 in the second half, went ahead 62-58 but a layup shot by Bob Calihan, son of the Detroit coach, shot the Titans ahead to stay.

North Texas State blasted Drake's Missouri Valley Conference title hopes 118-99, the Eagles' highest total in 12 years against an MVC rival. Crest Whitaker scored 36 points and Joe Hamilton 31 for the winners, who connected on 36 of 40 free throws.

The loss knocked Drake out of a second-place tie with Louisville and left the Bulldogs 2½ games behind league-leading Tulsa. Willie McCarter had 31 points for the losers.

In a game between MVC also-rans, Greg Carney's jump shot with six seconds left gave Wichita State a 71-69 triumph over hard-luck Memphis State. The Tigers have lost four games by one point and two games by two.

Notre Dame got Georgia's Tech's high-scoring Rich Yunkus in foul trouble, held him to 15 points and whipped the Yellow Jackets 71-52. Bob Arnzen pazed the Irish with 25.

Oklahoma City outlasted Creighton 98-94 despite 33 points by the losers' Bob Portman, who set a school scoring record of 1,674 points, seven more than Paul Silas, now a pro with the Atlanta Hawks.

Charles Wallace led winners with 30 and Rich Travis, the nation's seventh leading scorer, added 23 and needs 16 more to break the OCU standard of 1,887 by Hub Reed.

Morehead State, the leading offensive team with an average of 93.1 points a game, had the tables turned as Southern Mississippi made off with a 93-85 win thanks to Wendell Ladner's 34 points and 24 rebounds.

Miami of Ohio's 6-10 Ray Loucks handcuffed Xavier's 6-10 Luther Rackley with two points, his lowest output ever, and the Redskins won 60-45.

Chicago Black Hawks Swamp Flyers 12-0

By The Associated Press

The Philadelphia Flyers knew they were in trouble when Chicago's Dennis Hull drew a first-period penalty and the Black Hawks, short a man, promptly scored two goals.

Things went downhill from there.

When it was all over, Chicago had pounded Philadelphia 12-0 Thursday night for the most lopsided defeat ever suffered by a National Hockey League expansion team. In other games, New York won its fifth straight, shading St. Louis 4-3 and Boston outlasted Los Angeles 7-5.

Pit Martin and Jim Pappin scored 41 seconds apart midway through the period and Dennis Hull fired a pair of goals late in the session. Favell was lifted after Hull's second goal and Bernie Parent yielded three goals in each of the final two periods as the Black Hawks piled it on.

Pappin had the hat track with one goal in each period while Doug Mohns, Eric Nesterenko and Hull hit two goals each. Oddly, Bobby Hull, Dennis' brother and one of the NHL's top alltime goal makers, did not score.

It was not the most lopsided defeat in NHL history. That one was a 15-0 shellacking which Detroit hung on New York in 1944.

Tigers Seeking Conference Title

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

Beaver Local has a two-night home stand this weekend, while Oak Glen, East Liverpool, Midland and Wellsville are on the road tonight in top area scholastic cage games.

Beaver Local is 4-9, but has won its last two games, over Springfield and Oak Glen. United, after a 3-3 start, has won five of its last six for an 8-4 mark. Jack Mills, 6-6 son of coach Jack Mills, is the top scorer for the Golden Eagles, with Steve Cope and Jim Erb landing plenty of support.

Crestview has dropped its last three to fall to 6-7. The Rebels get balanced scoring from Keith Chamberlin, Ron Athey, Mark Chellis and Chip McConville. Dave Mason, at 20.5, is the big gun in Beaver coach Lloyd Stockdale's arsenal.

Midland, after a 5-3 pre-season record, has come through the first half of Section 6 play with a 7-0 mark. George Green, 6-4 sophomore, is leading the section in scoring with better than 17 points a game. Overall Green is hitting 14.5 a game, Greg Vanlier 14.3 and Howard Leek 12.1 for Ed Okowski' team.

Midland travels to Freedom, which is 0-7 in league play, 3-11 overall and has lost 10 games in a row. The Leopards won 56-34 at Midland.

Wellsville can wrap up the Buckeye Border Conference Crown at Southern Local. The Tigers are 10-3 overall and 7-0 in league play, while Southern is 3-12 overall and 2-6 in the loop. The Indians of Al Girone boast Rob Carter, who is denting the nets at a 22.7 ppg clip. Wellsville's John Bobalik is close behind at 21.2, while Joe D'Angelo adds 12.0 and Bill Miller 11.9 for Bob Dawson's club. Wellsville won only 69-60 at Wellsville.

John Marshall, a jointure of Moundsville and Benwood Union, lost its first five games, but then pulled even. The Monarchs now have a losing record, however. Oak Glen is 4-8, 2-4 against both West Virginia and out-of-state competition. Jim Carnes leads Jack McDevitt's team with an 18.3 mark.

Lisbon is at Leetonia in a Tri-County League game tonight. The Blue Devils are 6-6 overall and 4-3 in league play, while Leetonia is 5-7 and 2-5. Ed Casey and Alan Gibson pace Art Kovacs' Bears. Gary Pike of Lisbon gets balanced scoring from Jim Courtney at 18.0, Jim Taylor at 11.3, Dave McCamon at 10.6 and Lee Smith at 10.5. Saturday Lisbon hosts United.

South Side Beaver plays an exhibition game at Quigley, 1-13. The Baden Catholic school is coached by John Dudo, former Western Beaver mentor, and John McDermott is its leading scorer. John Nace's Rams have a 3-11 mark, with Dan McNary hitting 10.4 and Doug Williamson 10.1.

Stanton hosts tough Mt. Pleasant tonight. The Red Raiders, 3-11, are heavy underdogs against the Mounties, 12-1. Mt. Pleasant won an earlier match 95-69. Mark Thompson is their big gun. Dave Olesky is hitting 16.4 and Tim Logan 12.3 for Dave Murray's Raiders. Saturday night Stanton hits the road, playing at Yorkville. The Ductillites are 5-7, having lost five games in a row. They hold a 72-61 win at Stanton.

The East Liverpool branch of Kent State U. close its season with a game at the Warren branch of Kent at 2 p. m. The locals are seeking their first win in 13 starts. Mike Piatt is hitting 20.3 a game for Merrill Hall's team, with Jim Reese adding 13.8, Bill Fisher 13.6 and Mark Powell 13.3. Warren took an 82-63 decision earlier at the M.A.

Dan Cunningham Has Broken Nose

Cunningham collided with Rick Steffen during a drill. A mask has been obtained that Cunningham can wear to protect his nose. The mask was worn last year by Billy Zopf of Duquesne and Mickey Davis of Monaca, now a freshman at Duquesne.

Nicklaus Leading At San Diego

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The years have been scarce and far between when Jack Nicklaus didn't win a major golf championship. The year 1968 was one of them.

The leader going into the second round of the $150,000 Andy Williams-San Diego Open today, with an initial four-under par 68, the big and friendly bear from Columbus, Ohio, made a few revelations.

For one, he has begun his training program weeks earlier than usual. He used to delay perfecting his game until the Masters at Augusta, Ga., loomed ahead.

"I played a lot of golf starting Dec. 27 in Florida," said Jack of a period in which he used to relax and fish. "I didn't win a major tournament last year and naturally my objective is to win one of them this year."

He referred to the U.S. Open, the Masters, the PGA and the British Open, the crowns of golf. He has won each of them at least once in his brilliant career.

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

Namath doesn't generate controversy by his on-field performances. He is a good quarterback, assuredly, but he doesn't go in for the unorthodox. He doesn't scramble like Frank Tarkenton. The Jets aren't known for "flea-flicker" plays.

THOSE WHO lived in the area of Beaver County when Namath was starring for Beaver Falls High know that Joe isn't the apple pie type. Detroit Upends Duquesne

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Beavers, seeking to become the second college basketball team to win 1,000 games, made it 995 with an easy 83-59 victory that left Portland the nation's only major team that hasn't won a game. The Pilots are 0-16.

Kentucky reached 1,000 wins earlier this month and Kansas, with 998, is in second place.

Coach Paul Valenti of Oregon State was worried about the game, mainly because Portland had won its last two homecoming games from the Beavers.

"Any time a team makes a special effort it can be tough," Valenti said, "and Portland has a habit of making a special effort against us."

The Pilots tried a zone but Oregon State shot over it at a 62.9 per cent clip in the first half to take a 47-28 lead. All five starters scored in double figures, paced by 17 apiece for Gary Freeman and Bill More, although Portland's Bill Ricks took game honors with 26.

The only member of The Associated Press' Top Twenty to see action Thursday night was 11th-ranked Duquesne, which bowed to Detroit and Olympic star Spencer Haywood 76-66. The 6-foot-8 Haywood, No. 4 scorer in the land, popped in 31 points, grabbed 16 rebounds and blocked numerous shots.

Duquesne, behind by 10 in the second half, went ahead 62-58 but a layup shot by Bob Calihan, son of the Detroit coach, shot the Titans ahead to stay.

North Texas State blasted Drake's Missouri Valley Conference title hopes 118-99, the Eagles' highest total in 12 years against an MVC rival. Crest Whitaker scored 36 points and Joe Hamilton 31 for the winners, who connected on 36 of 40 free throws.

In a game between MVC also-rans, Greg Carney's jump shot with six seconds left gave Wichita State a 71-69 triumph over hard-luck Memphis State. The Tigers have lost four games by one point and two games by two.

Notre Dame got Georgia's Tech's high-scoring Rich Yunkus in foul trouble, held him to 15 points and whipped the Yellow Jackets 71-52. Bob Arnzen pazed the Irish with 25.

Oklahoma City outlasted Creighton 98-94 despite 33 points by the losers' Bob Portman, who set a school scoring record of 1,674 points, seven more than Paul Silas, now a pro with the Atlanta Hawks.

Charles Wallace led winners with 30 and Rich Travis, the nation's seventh leading scorer, added 23 and needs 16 more to break the OCU standard of 1,887 by Hub Reed.

Morehead State, the leading offensive team with an average of 93.1 points a game, had the tables turned as Southern Mississippi made off with a 93-85 win thanks to Wendell Ladner's 34 points and 24 rebounds.

Miami of Ohio's 6-10 Ray Loucks handcuffed Xavier's 6-10 Luther Rackley with two points, his lowest output ever, and the Redskins won 60-45.

Chicago Black Hawks Swamp Flyers 12-0

By The Associated Press

The Philadelphia Flyers knew they were in trouble when Chicago's Dennis Hull drew a first-period penalty and the Black Hawks, short a man, promptly scored two goals.

Things went downhill from there.

When it was all over, Chicago had pounded Philadelphia 12-0 Thursday night for the most lopsided defeat ever suffered by a National Hockey League expansion team. In other games, New York won its fifth straight, shading St. Louis 4-3 and Boston outlasted Los Angeles 7-5.

Pit Martin and Jim Pappin scored 41 seconds apart midway through the period and Dennis Hull fired a pair of goals late in the session. Favell was lifted after Hull's second goal and Bernie Parent yielded three goals in each of the final two periods as the Black Hawks piled it on.

Pappin had the hat track with one goal in each period while Doug Mohns, Eric Nesterenko and Hull hit two goals each. Oddly, Bobby Hull, Dennis' brother and one of the NHL's top alltime goal makers, did not score.

It was not the most lopsided defeat in NHL history. That one was a 15-0 shellacking which Detroit hung on New York in 1944.

Tigers Seeking Conference Title

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

Beaver Local has a two-night home stand this weekend, while Oak Glen, East Liverpool, Midland and Wellsville are on the road tonight in top area scholastic cage games.

Beaver Local is 4-9, but has won its last two games, over Springfield and Oak Glen. United, after a 3-3 start, has won five of its last six for an 8-4 mark. Jack Mills, 6-6 son of coach Jack Mills, is the top scorer for the Golden Eagles, with Steve Cope and Jim Erb landing plenty of support.

Crestview has dropped its last three to fall to 6-7. The Rebels get balanced scoring from Keith Chamberlin, Ron Athey, Mark Chellis and Chip McConville. Dave Mason, at 20.5, is the big gun in Beaver coach Lloyd Stockdale's arsenal.

Midland, after a 5-3 pre-season record, has come through the first half of Section 6 play with a 7-0 mark. George Green, 6-4 sophomore, is leading the section in scoring with better than 17 points a game. Overall Green is hitting 14.5 a game. Greg Vanlier 14.3 and Howard Leek 12.1 for Ed Okowski' team.

Midland travels to Freedom, which is 0-7 in league play, 3-11 overall and has lost 10 games in a row. The Leopards won 56-34 at Midland.

Wellsville can wrap up the Buckeye Border Conference Crown at Southern Local. The Tigers are 10-3 overall and 7-0 in league play, while Southern is 3-12 overall and 2-6 in the loop. The Indians of Al Girone boast Rob Carter, who is denting the nets at a 22.7 ppg clip. Wellsville's John Bobalik is close behind at 21.2, while Joe D'Angelo adds 12.0 and Bill Miller 11.9 for Bob Dawson's club. Wellsville won only 69-60 at Wellsville.

John Marshall, a jointure of Moundsville and Benwood Union, lost its first five games, but then pulled even. The Monarchs now have a losing record, however. Oak Glen is 4-8, 2-4 against both West Virginia and out-of-state competition. Jim Carnes leads Jack McDevitt's team with an 18.3 mark.

Lisbon is at Leetonia in a Tri-County League game tonight. The Blue Devils are 6-6 overall and 4-3 in league play, while Leetonia is 5-7 and 2-5. Ed Casey and Alan Gibson pace Art Kovacs' Bears. Gary Pike of Lisbon gets balanced scoring from Jim Courtney at 18.0, Jim Taylor at 11.3, Dave McCamon at 10.6 and Lee Smith at 10.5. Saturday Lisbon hosts United.

South Side Beaver plays an exhibition game at Quigley, 1-13. The Baden Catholic school is coached by John Dudo, former Western Beaver mentor, and John McDermott is its leading scorer. John Nace's Rams have a 3-11 mark, with Dan McNary hitting 10.4 and Doug Williamson 10.1.

Stanton hosts tough Mt. Pleasant tonight. The Red Raiders, 3-11, are heavy underdogs against the Mounties, 12-1. Mt. Pleasant won an earlier match 95-69. Mark Thompson is their big gun. Dave Olesky is hitting 16.4 and Tim Logan 12.3 for Dave Murray's Raiders. Saturday night Stanton hits the road, playing at Yorkville. The Ductillites are 5-7, having lost five games in a row. They hold a 72-61 win at Stanton.

The East Liverpool branch of Kent State U. close its season with a game at the Warren branch of Kent at 2 p. m. The locals are seeking their first win in 13 starts. Mike Piatt is hitting 20.3 a game for Merrill Hall's team, with Jim Reese adding 13.8, Bill Fisher 13.6 and Mark Powell 13.3. Warren took an 82-63 decision earlier at the M.A.

Dan Cunningham Has Broken Nose

Cunningham collided with Rick Steffen during a drill. A mask has been obtained that Cunningham can wear to protect his nose. The mask was worn last year by Billy Zopf of Duquesne and Mickey Davis of Monaca, now a freshman at Duquesne.

Nicklaus Leading At San Diego

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The years have been scarce and far between when Jack Nicklaus didn't win a major golf championship. The year 1968 was one of them.

The 29-year-old Nicklaus hopes to rectify the situation in 1969.

The leader going into the second round of the $150,000 Andy Williams-San Diego Open today, with an initial four-under par 68, the big and friendly bear from Columbus, Ohio, made a few revelations.

For one, he has begun his training program weeks earlier than usual. He used to delay perfecting his game until the Masters at Augusta, Ga., loomed ahead.

"I played a lot of golf starting Dec. 27 in Florida," said Jack of a period in which he used to relax and fish. "I didn't win a major tournament last year and naturally my objective is to win one of them this year."

He referred to the U.S. Open, the Masters, the PGA and the British Open, the crowns of golf. He has won each of them at least once in his brilliant career.

Joe Namath is probably the most controversial person to hit the sports scene since Cassius Clay.

Namath doesn't generate controversy by his on-field performances. He is a good quarterback, assuredly, but he doesn't go in for the unorthodox. He doesn't scramble like Frank Tarkenton. The Jets aren't known for "flea-flicker" plays.

Namath generates controversy because of his off-the-field actions, especially his confrontations with sportswriters. Namath is probably obnoxious in his dealings with everyone, but only sportswriters get it into print.

THOSE WHO lived in the area of Beaver County when Namath was starring for Beaver Falls High know that Joe isn't the apple pie type. "Joe lived a clean life in Beaver Falls," writes Jim Murray of the Los Angeles Times. "He didn't smoke until he was in kindergarten and he didn't drink until after the sun went down".

But Namath's appearance in the Super Bowl has netted him much publicity, most of it unfavorable. He managed to offend almost every writer covering the game, and most retaliated, even sentimental Joe Falls of the Detroit News.

THE MOST pungent blast at Namath came from Jack Hairston of the Jacksonville Journal. After being brushed off by Namath several times in the week prior to the AFL All-Star game, Hariston had this to say: "Namath's got a million-dollar arm, a 10-cent head, a billion-dollar ego and a zero in manners. If it wasn't for Bear Bryant, Sonny Werblin and the publicity he's gotten, he'd be quarterbacking the Beaver Falls Beavers on weekends and working a coal mine the other six days a week. And without a sports reputation, he couldn't pick up a date in a better joint than Lanigan's Beer Parlor."

Knicks Edge Bullets; Royals Nip 76ers

By The Associated Press

Willis Reed and the New York Knickerbockers collared Baltimore at the wire while Tom Van Arsdale and the Cincinnati Royals were cutting off Philadelphia at the pass.

Reed, New York's 6-foot-9 pivotman, blocked an Earl Monroe shot and pressured Wes Unseld into an offensive foul in the final four seconds, preserving a 109-106 National Basketball Association victory over the Eastern Division leading Bullets Thursday night.

The Bullets, however, clung to a one-game edge over second place Philadelphia, which bowed to the Royals 116-115 on Van Arsdale's jump shot with 21 seconds remaining—after a stray Billy Cunningham pass fell into Cincinnati hands.

The streaking Knicks blew all but one point of a 22-point third quarter lead before subduing Baltimore for their 20th victory in 24 games. Monroe's basket with 16 seconds to play, a pass theft and a bucket by Unseld left the Bullets behind 107-106, and they picked off another Knick pass before Reed came up with the game saving plays.

After Reed leaped to bat down Monroe's shot, Unseld tried to put in the rebound, but was called for charging Reed. The Knicks took the ball out and Dick Barnett sank two free throws after being fouled at the buzzer. Walt Frazier led New York with 28 points and teammate Dave DeBusschere had 22 points and 20 rebounds. Monroe's 33 points paced the Bullets.

With 1:50 remaining in the Cincinnati-Philadelphia scrap, the Royals within one point, 115-114. Then they swiped Cunningham's pass and fed Van Arsdale, who pumped in the deciding basket.

Dave Bing poured in 37 points to trigger the Pistons' romp over Seattle in the doubleheader opener at Baltimore. The Pistons led 64-59 at halftime, then outscored the SuperSonics 15-3 to touch off the rout.

Bob Boozer scored 11 of his 25 points in the last quarter, helping Chicago break out of an 80-80 deadlock and snap San Francisco's winning streak at four games. Rudy Larusso put in 29 for the Warriors, who jumped off to a 15-point lead before the Bulls rallied behind Boozer's hot shooting.

Friend Urged To Run For Mayor's Office

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bob Friend, who took a successful fling at poltics after retiring from baseball, has been urged to run for mayor of Pittsburgh on the Republican ticket.

The former Pittsburgh Pirate pitcher, who is now controller of Allegheny County, said Thursday he was flattered by the call but "cool" to the idea.

Wellsville Freshmen Defeat Springfield

Don Zimmer, 38, former Brooklyn Dodger infielder, will manage the Class A Key West, Fla., team this season. Key West is in the San Diego Padres farm system.

New Orleans Wins Fourth Straight

By The Associated Press

Togetherness has launched the New Orleans Buccaneers on a modest American Basketball Association winning streak. But it hasn't quite replaced Doug Moe and Larry Brown, who are keeping the Oakland Oaks in orbit.

New Orleans' Jones boys, Jimmy and Steve, combined for 47 points and four teammates hit double figures Thursday night in a 120-103 victory over Miami that ran the Bucs' winning string to four games.

The Bucs, who traded hotshots Moe and Brown to Oakland early in the season and have been rebuilding since then, moved within one game of the .500 mark by beating Miami for the first time in four meetings.

Moe, meanwhile, scored a career high 41 points as the Oaks edged Indiana 146-143 in overtime for their 37th triumph against just five setbacks. They lead second place Denver, which beat New York 128-103, but 11½ games and have a 16½-game bulge over New Orleans' defending Western champs.

Jimmy Jones' 24 points paced the Bucs attack, but the balanced scoring behind him was most pleasing to Coach Babe McCarthy. "It sure feels good," McCarthy said, "because this is the longest winning streak we've had this season. It's taken until now for use to get used to each other. This is virtually a new ball club."

Baskets by Moe and Brown in the final minute of overtime pushed Oakland past the Pacers in a game marked by excessive fouling and two early brawls. Indiana, which rallied to tie it 135-135 on John Fairchild's basket with 19 seconds remaining in regulation play, lost five players on personal fouls.

Larry Jones, who finished with a game-high 29 points, and Byron Beck, who threw in 20, each scored 10 in a third quarter Denver blitz that locked up the victory over the hapless Nets. Ron Perry led New York scorers with 22.

Wheeling Wrestlers Top Bears

Wheeling thumped Oak Glen 33-11 in an exhibition wrestling match at Oak Glen Wednesday night.

The match was classified as an exhibition due to a ruling by the State Secondary Activities Commission that prohibits a wrestler from appearing in more than 16 bouts a year, exclusive of state tournament. The ruling included every appearance in a bout as a tournament, so Wheeling had too many matches scheduled to comply with the rule. To circumvent the rule, the wrestling coaches are declaring maches exhibitions when need be.

Summary:

95 — Helmbright (W) dec. Powell 17-1

103 — Falck (W) pinned Price 4:24

112 — Dunnaway (W) dec. Van Fossen 12-0

120 — Gibson (OG) dec. McConnell 6-2

127 — Dunnaway (W) pinned Lowther 0:51

133 — Nicholson (W) dec. Masters 8-5

138 — Wilds (W) dec. Stanley 8-3

145 — Jewell (W) dec. Nemith 7-6

154 — Myers (OG) dec. Barnett 10-4

Davenport, Young At Millrose Games

NEW YORK (AP) — Olympians Willie Davenport, George Young and Ralph Doubell will try to keep their winning streaks alive while Dick Fosbury is aiming to start one tonight in the 62nd Annual Wanamaker-Millrose Games.

Davenport, the Olympic Gold Medal winner in the hurdles, has taken six straight races in his specialty on the indoor track tour this season while Young has five straight triumphs in the two and three-mile runs. Doubell is gunning for his third straight victory in this meet which has attracted 42 Olympians.

However, Fosbury, famous since the Mexico City Olympics where he won the high jump with a record leap of 7-4¼ with his unique backward flip style called the Fosbury Flip, has been shut out in four meets since.

Fosbury, who will be defending his title in this meet at Madison Square Garden, says, "I am a competitive jumper. I need motivation." He will get it here. The field includes seven-foot jumpers John Rambo, Ronnie Jourdan and West Germany's Gunther Spielvogel.

Davenport, the 1966-67 Millrose winner, will have his work cut out, going against defending champion and Olympic mate Leon Coleman and Olympic runner-up Erv Hall.

Young, the 31-year-old Casa Grande, Ariz., schoolteacher, unbeaten in 13 straight races over two years, will face the challenge of Olympian Tracy Smith, world record holder in the three-mile, and six others.

Doubell, from Australia, the 800-meter Olympic champion, has won eight straight indoor races over two years. In the Los Angeles Invitational 1,000-yard run, he won in 2:07, and last weekend in Albuquerque, N.M., set a world indoor record for the 880 with a time of 1:47.9, breaking the old mark by a full second.

Other Olympic winners here include Bob Beamon, world record breaker in the long jump at 29 feet, 2½ inches; Bob Seagren, the world's best pole vaulter; Lee Evans in the 600; Madeline Manning, in the women's 880; and decathlon champion Bill Toomey, who will run on the Southern California Striders mile-relay team.

Beamon's competition will come from Ralph Boston and Charlie Mays. Boston was third to Beamon in Mexico City.

Seagren, who only last week broke his own indoor record of 17-4¼, set here last year, with a vault of 17-5 at Albuquerque, will face a field of four other 17-footers.

Baseball Rules Group Considers Radical Moves

By The Associated Press

Baseball's hot stove league warms up a couple of degrees this weekend with a handful of awards dinners, a meeting of the Major League Rules Committee and the annual free agent draft on tap.

The nine members of the Rules Committee convene in New York today to discuss several radical changes, including a proposal to permit a team to pinch hit for the pitcher each time he is due to bat while allowing him to remain in the game.

Detroit southpaw Mickey Lolich, last year's World Series hero, will be honored at testimonial dinners in Houston tonight and New York Sunday night.

Lolich, who beat St. Louis three times in the Tigers' come-from-behind Series triumph, shares the spotlight with NL batting king Pete Rose at the Houston affair and will get the Babe Ruth Award at New York as the outstanding Series star.

The majors will conduct their free agent draft in New York Saturday. Sunday, the Oldtimers Committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America meets in New York to vote on suplemental candidates for the Hall of Fame.

Denny McLain, Detroit's 31-game winner, was feted Thursday night by the Boston Baseball Writers. The colorful Tiger hurler also played the organ for the 800 guests.

Thursday, John McHale, president and part owner of Montreal's NL expansion club, sent letters to the owners of the other 23 major league teams asking that he be ruled out as a candidate for the commissioner's job.

McHale, drafted as a candidate during the owners' fruitless December meeting to name a successor to William D. Eckert, cited commitments and responsibilities to the Expos in seeking to eliminate himself from consideration.

George Selkirk, fired as general manager of the Washington Senators Wednesday, turned down a lesser post with the club after a meeting with owner Robert E. Short Thursday and will look elsewhere for a baseball job.

Rush Goes To Patriots; Harding Leaves Pipers

By The Associated Press

It was moving day Thursday for several coaches and players in football, hockey and basketball.

Two professional sports teams announced new coaches. Clive Rush, who molded the offense for the world champion New York Jets, took over as head coach of the American Football League's Boston Patriots. In the American Basketball Association, Verl "Gus" Young replaced Jim Harding as coach of the Minnesota Pipers.

Rush, the offensive coach under Weeb Ewbank of the Jets, takes over from Mike Holovak, who was fired as the Patriots' coach and general manager last month. No new GM has been named yet.

Young, former coach at Gustavus Adolphus College at St. Peter, Minn., moves up to the Pipers' coaching job after serving as the team's director of special promotions.

Harding was removed as coach of the ABA's Eastern All-Stars Tuesday night after becoming involved in an altercation with Gabe Rubin, minority owner of the Pipers, at a pregame banquet in Louisville, Ky.

In college sports, there were also coaching shifts.

James G. "Gerry" Alaimo was named basketball coach at Brown University, succeeding Stan Ward, whose resignation becomes effective June 30. Alaimo is a former Brown star and currently coach at Middlebury, Vt., College.

J. L. "Jake" McCandless was named football coach at Princeton University, replacing Dick Colman, who resigned last month to become athletic director at Middlebury. McCandless moves up to the top job after 11 years as Colman's assistant.

In player trades, the Cincinnati Royals of the National Basketball Association acquired veteran Fred Hetzel from the Milwaukee Bucks in exchange for rookie Don Smith and cash, and the Pittsburgh Penguins and Oakland Seals of the National Hockey League swapped six players.

Compromise Smaller Golf Ball Sought

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — As if the cantankerous golf ball isn't hard enough to hit now, the powers of the game are planning to make it smaller.

However, you should be able to belt it farther off the tee and it ought to be more fun to play, says Keith Mackenzie, secretary of the Royal and Ancient Club of St. Andrews—but he can't guarantee it.

Mackenzie, who holds forth in the old gray structure beside the North Sea where golf supposedly was cradled, stopped off in New York Thursday to talk with officials of the U.S. Golf Association about two subjects close to his heart—the British Open and the golf ball.

"Our aim is to arrive at a ball that is more pleasurable for the average golfer to play," Mackenzie, a typical Scotsman with a thin mustache and a brogue that walks on edge, said. "We are not concerned about the Arnold Palmers and Bill Caspers. We are concerned about the millions of golfers—70 per cent of all of them, in fact—who have handicaps of 17 and above.

"Our purpose is not to improve the score—the players must do that themselves. It is to improve the enjoyment of the game."

The British and Americans, whose rules are accepted all around the world, play a different size ball. The Americans specify that a ball cannot be less than 1.68 inches in diameter. The R&A code holds that the minimum diameter shall be 1.62 inches.

Now the two countries are trying to arrive at a uniform ball, the only area in which their rules do not agree. The British have come up with a ball 1.65 inches in diameter—3-100ths larger than the present British ball.

"I sincerely hope that we arrive at a compromise ball," Mackenzie said. "Not for our own sakes, but for the sake of the rest of the world. There is a golf explosion, and other countries must be confused."

Shue Happy With Play Of Bullets

BALTIMORE (AP) — F or a coach whose team has lost four of its last five games, Gene Shue of the Baltimore Bullets was unusually relaxed.

Always composed and congenial, regardless of which team wins, Shue was even able to smile after the Bullets dropped a 109-106 National Basketball Association decision Thursday night to the New York Knickerbockers.

"I was pleased the way we came back in the second half," Shue said, referring to a rally which pulled the Bullets to within 107-106 w ith 11 seconds remaining after they trailed 72-50.

Earl Monroe, who scored 17 of his 33 points in the final quarter, scored a field goal for Baltimore with 16 seconds left, and Wes Unseld sank another after New York's Bill Bradley tossed a pass out of bounds.

Another bad pass by New York gave Baltimore two shots to pull a miracle comeback. But Willis Reed blocked one attempt by Monroe and then Unseld was charged with an offensive foul as he tried to move past Reed with two seconds left.

Dick Barnett made two free throws at the final buzzer for the Knicks, who won for the 20th time in 24 starts and pulled to within three games of the Eastern Division leading Bullets.

In the opener of the Baltimore doubleheader, before 11,500 in the Civic Center, Dave Bing scored 37 points and led the Detroit Pistons to an easy 144-118 decision over the Seattle SuperSonics.

Dave DeBusschere scored 15 of his 23 points in the second half and grabbed 20 rebounds for the Knicks.

Knicks Edge Bullets; Royals Nip 76ers

By The Associated Press

Willis Reed and the New York Knickerbockers collared Baltimore at the wire while Tom Van Arsdale and the Cincinnati Royals were cutting off Philadelphia at the pass.

Reed, New York's 6-foot-9 pivotman, blocked an Earl Monroe shot and pressured Wes Unseld into an offensive foul in the final four seconds, preserving a 109-106 National Basketball Association victory over the Eastern Division leading Bullets Thursday night.

The Bullets, however, clung to a one-game edge over second place Philadelphia, which bowed to the Royals 116-115 on Van Arsdale's jump shot with 21 seconds remaining—after a stray Billy Cunningham pass fell into Cincinnati hands.

The streaking Knicks blew all but one point of a 22-point third quarter lead before subduing Baltimore for their 20th victory in 24 games. Monroe's basket with 16 seconds to play, a pass theft and a bucket by Unseld left the Bullets behind 107-106, and they picked off another Knick pass before Reed came up with the game saving plays.

After Reed leaped to bat down Monroe's shot, Unseld tried to put in the rebound, but was called for charging Reed. The Knicks took the ball out and Dick Barnett sank two free throws after being fouled at the buzzer. Walt Frazier led New York with 28 points and teammate Dave DeBusschere had 22 points and 20 rebounds. Monroe's 33 points paced the Bullets.

With 1:50 remaining in the Cincinnati-Philadelphia scrap, the Royals within one point, 115-114. Then they swiped Cunningham's pass and fed Van Arsdale, who pumped in the deciding basket.

The 76ers blew a chance to win it when Chet Walker rimmed the basket with a last second shot.

Cunningham led all scorers with 36 points. Van Arsdale was high for the Royals with 26.

Dave Bing poured in 37 points to trigger the Pistons' romp over Seattle in the doubleheader opener at Baltimore. The Pistons led 64-59 at halftime, then outscored the SuperSonics 15-3 to touch off the rout.

Terry Dischinger hit on nine of 12 shots from the floor for the Pistons, finishing with 19 points. Teammate Happy Hairston, Walt Bellamy and Howard Komives had 27, 22 and 22 respectively.

Bob Boozer scored 11 of his 25 points in the last quarter, helping Chicago break out of an 80-80 deadlock and snap San Francisco's winning streak at four games. Rudy Larusso put in 29 for the Warriors, who jumped off to a 15-point lead before the Bulls rallied behind Boozer's hot shooting.

Friend Urged To Run For Mayor's Office

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bob Friend, who took a successful fling at poltics after retiring from baseball, has been urged to run for mayor of Pittsburgh on the Republican ticket.

The former Pittsburgh Pirate pitcher, who is now controller of Allegheny County, said Thursday he was flattered by the call but "cool" to the idea.

Wellsville Freshmen Defeat Springfield

Wellsville downed Springfield 60-51 at Wellsville yesterday to run its freshman basketball mark to 6-5.

Don Zimmer, 38, former Brooklyn Dodger infielder, will manage the Class A Key West, Fla., team this season. Key West is in the San Diego Padres farm system.

New Orleans Wins Fourth Straight

By The Associated Press

Togetherness has launched the New Orleans Buccaneers on a modest American Basketball Association winning streak. But it hasn't quite replaced Doug Moe and Larry Brown, who are keeping the Oakland Oaks in orbit.

New Orleans' Jones boys, Jimmy and Steve, combined for 47 points and four teammates hit double figures Thursday night in a 120-103 victory over Miami that ran the Bucs' winning string to four games.

The Bucs, who traded hotshots Moe and Brown to Oakland early in the season and have been rebuilding since then, moved within one game of the .500 mark by beating Miami for the first time in four meetings.

Moe, meanwhile, scored a career high 41 points as the Oaks edged Indiana 146-143 in overtime for their 37th triumph against just five setbacks. They lead second place Denver, which beat New York 128-103, but 11½ games and have a 16½-game bulge over New Orleans' defending Western champs.

Jimmy Jones' 24 points paced the Bucs attack, but the balanced scoring behind him was most pleasing to Coach Babe McCarthy. "It sure feels good," McCarthy said, "because this is the longest winning streak we've had this season. It's taken until now for use to get used to each other. This is virtually a new ball club."

Baskets by Moe and Brown in the final minute of overtime pushed Oakland past the Pacers in a game marked by excessive fouling and two early brawls. Indiana, which rallied to tie it 135-135 on John Fairchild's basket with 19 seconds remaining in regulation play, lost five players on personal fouls.

Larry Jones, who finished with a game-high 29 points, and Byron Beck, who threw in 20, each scored 10 in a third quarter Denver blitz that locked up the victory over the hapless Nets. Ron Perry led New York scorers with 22.

Wheeling Wrestlers Top Bears

Wheeling thumped Oak Glen 33-11 in an exhibition wrestling match at Oak Glen Wednesday night.

The match was classified as an exhibition due to a ruling by the State Secondary Activities Commission that prohibits a wrestler from appearing in more than 16 bouts a year, exclusive of state tournament. The ruling included every appearance in a bout as a tournament, so Wheeling had too many matches scheduled to comply with the rule. To circumvent the rule, the wrestling coaches are declaring maches exhibitions when need be.

Summary:

95 — Helmbright (W) dec. Powell 17-1

103 — Falck (W) pinned Price 4:24

112 — Dunnaway (W) dec. Van Fossen 12-0

120 — Gibson (OG) dec. McConnell 6-2

127 — Dunnaway (W) pinned Lowther 0:51

133 — Nicholson (W) dec. Masters 8-5

138 — Wilds (W) dec. Stanley 8-3

145 — Jewell (W) dec. Nemith 7-6

154 — Myers (OG) dec. Barnett 10-4

Davenport, Young At Millrose Games

NEW YORK (AP) — Olympians Willie Davenport, George Young and Ralph Doubell will try to keep their winning streaks alive while Dick Fosbury is aiming to start one tonight in the 62nd Annual Wanamaker-Millrose Games.

Davenport, the Olympic Gold Medal winner in the hurdles, has taken six straight races in his specialty on the indoor track tour this season while Young has five straight triumphs in the two and three-mile runs. Doubell is gunning for his third straight victory in this meet which has attracted 42 Olympians.

However, Fosbury, famous since the Mexico City Olympics where he won the high jump with a record leap of 7-4¼ with his unique backward flip style called the Fosbury Flip, has been shut out in four meets since.

Fosbury, who will be defending his title in this meet at Madison Square Garden, says, "I am a competitive jumper. I need motivation." He will get it here. The field includes seven-foot jumpers John Rambo, Ronnie Jourdan and West Germany's Gunther Spielvogel.

Davenport, the 1966-67 Millrose winner, will have his work cut out, going against defending champion and Olympic mate Leon Coleman and Olympic runner-up Erv Hall.

Young, the 31-year-old Casa Grande, Ariz., schoolteacher, unbeaten in 13 straight races over two years, will face the challenge of Olympian Tracy Smith, world record holder in the three-mile, and six others.

Doubell, from Australia, the 800-meter Olympic champion, has won eight straight indoor races over two years. In the Los Angeles Invitational 1,000-yard run, he won in 2:07, and last weekend in Albuquerque, N.M., set a world indoor record for the 880 with a time of 1:47.9, breaking the old mark by a full second.

Other Olympic winners here include Bob Beamon, world record breaker in the long jump at 29 feet, 2½ inches; Bob Seagren, the world's best pole vaulter; Lee Evans in the 600; Madeline Manning, in the women's 880; and decathlon champion Bill Toomey, who will run on the Southern California Striders mile-relay team.

Beamon's competition will come from Ralph Boston and Charlie Mays. Boston was third to Beamon in Mexico City.

Seagren, who only last week broke his own indoor record of 17-4¼, set here last year, with a vault of 17-5 at Albuquerque, will face a field of four other 17-footers.

Baseball Rules Group Considers Radical Moves

By The Associated Press

Baseball's hot stove league warms up a couple of degrees this weekend with a handful of awards dinners, a meeting of the Major League Rules Committee and the annual free agent draft on tap.

The nine members of the Rules Committee convene in New York today to discuss several radical changes, including a proposal to permit a team to pinch hit for the pitcher each time he is due to bat while allowing him to remain in the game.

Detroit southpaw Mickey Lolich, last year's World Series hero, will be honored at testimonial dinners in Houston tonight and New York Sunday night.

Lolich, who beat St. Louis three times in the Tigers' come-from-behind Series triumph, shares the spotlight with NL batting king Pete Rose at the Houston affair and will get the Babe Ruth Award at New York as the outstanding Series star.

The majors will conduct their free agent draft in New York Saturday. Sunday, the Oldtimers Committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America meets in New York to vote on suplemental candidates for the Hall of Fame.

Denny McLain, Detroit's 31-game winner, was feted Thursday night by the Boston Baseball Writers. The colorful Tiger hurler also played the organ for the 800 guests.

Thursday, John McHale, president and part owner of Montreal's NL expansion club, sent letters to the owners of the other 23 major league teams asking that he be ruled out as a candidate for the commissioner's job.

McHale, drafted as a candidate during the owners' fruitless December meeting to name a successor to William D. Eckert, cited commitments and responsibilities to the Expos in seeking to eliminate himself from consideration.

George Selkirk, fired as general manager of the Washington Senators Wednesday, turned down a lesser post with the club after a meeting with owner Robert E. Short Thursday and will look elsewhere for a baseball job.

Rush Goes To Patriots; Harding Leaves Pipers

By The Associated Press

It was moving day Thursday for several coaches and players in football, hockey and basketball.

Two professional sports teams announced new coaches. Clive Rush, who molded the offense for the world champion New York Jets, took over as head coach of the American Football League's Boston Patriots. In the American Basketball Association, Verl "Gus" Young replaced Jim Harding as coach of the Minnesota Pipers.

Rush, the offensive coach under Weeb Ewbank of the Jets, takes over from Mike Holovak, who was fired as the Patriots' coach and general manager last month. No new GM has been named yet.

Young, former coach at Gustavus Adolphus College at St. Peter, Minn., moves up to the Pipers' coaching job after serving as the team's director of special promotions.

Harding was removed as coach of the ABA's Eastern All-Stars Tuesday night after becoming involved in an altercation with Gabe Rubin, minority owner of the Pipers, at a pregame banquet in Louisville, Ky.

In college sports, there were also coaching shifts.

James G. "Gerry" Alaimo was named basketball coach at Brown University, succeeding Stan Ward, whose resignation becomes effective June 30. Alaimo is a former Brown star and currently coach at Middlebury, Vt., College.

J. L. "Jake" McCandless was named football coach at Princeton University, replacing Dick Colman, who resigned last month to become athletic director at Middlebury. McCandless moves up to the top job after 11 years as Colman's assistant.

In player trades, the Cincinnati Royals of the National Basketball Association acquired veteran Fred Hetzel from the Milwaukee Bucks in exchange for rookie Don Smith and cash, and the Pittsburgh Penguins and Oakland Seals of the National Hockey League swapped six players.

Compromise Smaller Golf Ball Sought

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — As if the cantankerous golf ball isn't hard enough to hit now, the powers of the game are planning to make it smaller.

However, you should be able to belt it farther off the tee and it ought to be more fun to play, says Keith Mackenzie, secretary of the Royal and Ancient Club of St. Andrews—but he can't guarantee it.

Mackenzie, who holds forth in the old gray structure beside the North Sea where golf supposedly was cradled, stopped off in New York Thursday to talk with officials of the U.S. Golf Association about two subjects close to his heart—the British Open and the golf ball.

"Our aim is to arrive at a ball that is more pleasurable for the average golfer to play," Mackenzie, a typical Scotsman with a thin mustache and a brogue that walks on edge, said. "We are not concerned about the Arnold Palmers and Bill Caspers. We are concerned about the millions of golfers—70 per cent of all of them, in fact—who have handicaps of 17 and above.

"Our purpose is not to improve the score—the players must do that themselves. It is to improve the enjoyment of the game."

The British and Americans, whose rules are accepted all around the world, play a different size ball. The Americans specify that a ball cannot be less than 1.68 inches in diameter. The R&A code holds that the minimum diameter shall be 1.62 inches.

The weight of the two balls is the same — 1.62 ounces.

Now the two countries are trying to arrive at a uniform ball, the only area in which their rules do not agree. The British have come up with a ball 1.65 inches in diameter—3-100ths larger than the present British ball.

"I sincerely hope that we arrive at a compromise ball," Mackenzie said. "Not for our own sakes, but for the sake of the rest of the world. There is a golf explosion, and other countries must be confused."

Shue Happy With Play Of Bullets

BALTIMORE (AP) — For a coach whose team has lost four of its last five games, Gene Shue of the Baltimore Bullets was unusually relaxed.

Always composed and congenial, regardless of which team wins, Shue was even able to smile after the Bullets dropped a 109-106 National Basketball Association decision Thursday night to the New York Knickerbockers.

"I was pleased the way we came back in the second half," Shue said, referring to a rally which pulled the Bullets to within 107-106 with 11 seconds remaining after they trailed 72-50.

Earl Monroe, who scored 17 of his 33 points in the final quarter, scored a field goal for Baltimore with 16 seconds left, and Wes Unseld sank another after New York's Bill Bradley tossed a pass out of bounds.

Another bad pass by New York gave Baltimore two shots to pull a miracle comeback. But Willis Reed blocked one attempt by Monroe and then Unseld was charged with an offensive foul as he tried to move past Reed with two seconds left.

Dick Barnett made two free throws at the final buzzer for the Knicks, who won for the 20th time in 24 starts and pulled to within three games of the Eastern Division leading Bullets.

In the opener of the Baltimore doubleheader, before 11,500 in the Civic Center, Dave Bing scored 37 points and led the Detroit Pistons to an easy 144-118 decision over the Seattle SuperSonics.

Dave DeBusschere scored 15 of his 23 points in the second half and grabbed 20 rebounds for the Knicks.

Armco To Shut Down Ambridge Facilities

AMBRIDGE, Pa. (AP) — Armco Steel Corp. says it will shut down facilities employing 350 in the production of two items by April 1.

The company said Thursday the main reasons for halting production of welded pipe and electrical conduit facilities were the impact of foreign steel and competitive pressures from domestic pipe producers.

J. O. Miller, manager of the Ambridge works, said seamless standard pipe and oil country tubular products will continue to be made here and employment will be provided for most of the 2,100 workers. He said the company would lend job placement assistant to those affected by the shutdown.

Seventeen nations participate in the International Ice Patrol. Since its formation after the sinking of the Titanic in 1912, no lives have been lost through collision of ships with icebergs in the North Atlantic shipping lanes.

2 IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our mother, mother-in-law, and grandmother, Mrs. Willie Eva Christian, who passed away one year ago today, Jan. 31, 1968. We have only your memory, dear mother, to treasure our whole life through, but the sweetness will linger forever, and we treasure the memories of you. Sadly missed by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Christian and granddaughter, Judy.

3 CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks and appreciation for the acts of kindness, messages of sympathy, and beautiful floral offerings received from our kind friends and neighbors during our recent bereavement in the loss of our beloved husband and father, "BERNARD "RED" DYKE. Special thanks to Rev. George Miller, Dawson Funeral Home, City Hospital, Oakland Veterans Hospital of Pittsburgh, the Moose Lodge for their services, the pall bearers, the piano player Jeffrey Capehart, East Liverpool City Policeman, East Liverpool Fire Department, and Joe Jester of Turley Ambulance Service, and all who donated food.

Armco To Shut Down Ambridge Facilities

AMBRIDGE, Pa. (AP) — Armco Steel Corp. says it will shut down facilities employing 350 in the production of two items by April 1.

The company said Thursday the main reasons for halting production of welded pipe and electrical conduit facilities were the impact of foreign steel and competitive pressures from domestic pipe producers.

J. O. Miller, manager of the Ambridge works, said seamless standard pipe and oil country tubular products will continue to be made here and employment will be provided for most of the 2,100 workers. He said the company would lend job placement assistant to those affected by the shutdown.

Seventeen nations participate in the International Ice Patrol. Since its formation after the sinking of the Titanic in 1912, no lives have been lost through collision of ships with icebergs in the North Atlantic shipping lanes.

2 IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our mother, mother-in-law, and grandmother, Mrs. Willie Eva Christian, who passed away one year ago today, Jan. 31, 1968. We have only your memory, dear mother, to treasure our whole life through, but the sweetness will linger forever, and we treasure the memories of you. Sadly missed by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Christian and granddaughter, Judy.

3 CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks and appreciation for the acts of kindness, messages of sympathy, and beautiful floral offerings received from our kind friends and neighbors during our recent bereavement in the loss of our beloved husband and father, "BERNARD "RED" DYKE. Special thanks to Rev. George Miller, Dawson Funeral Home, City Hospital, Oakland Veterans Hospital of Pittsburgh, the Moose Lodge for their services, the pall bearers, the piano player Jeffrey Capehart, East Liverpool City Policeman, East Liverpool Fire Department, and Joe Jester of Turley Ambulance Service, and all who donated food.

stools are different

If poor stools indicate a problem in your kennel, make sure nutrition is right by switching to Wayne Dog Food promptly. Experienced dog men will tell you Wayne produces good firm stools day in and day out, (kennel cleaning becomes quick and easy) . . . puppies grow fast and uniformly.

Switch to Wayne Dog Food now. You'll be amazed and pleased with the results!

stools are different

If poor stools indicate a problem in your kennel, make sure nutrition is right by switching to Wayne Dog Food promptly. Experienced dog men will tell you Wayne produces good firm stools day in and day out, (kennel cleaning becomes quick and easy) . . . puppies grow fast and uniformly.

Switch to Wayne Dog Food now. You'll be amazed and pleased with the results!

By The Associated Press

On this date in 1958, the first United States earth satellite, Explorer I, was launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

In 1943, in World War II the Soviets announced they had destroyed German forces encircling Stalingrad.

Ten year ago ... the Soviet Union announced it as ready to sign a trade agreement with the United States if the United States were willing.

Junior Editors Quiz on MUMMIES

QUESTION: Why did the Egyptians mummefy their dead?

* * *

ANSWER: In very early Egyptian times, dead people were buried in the sand. The special quality of the hot, dry Egyptian sand preserved such bodies from decay. It is thought that when the early Egyptians discovered that the buried bodies did not decay, they got the idea that they had survived to a life after death. Then came the further thought that they should provide the dead people with food and various utensils. Graves were made larger for this purpose. But then the air came in, the bodies decayed. To prevent this, the Egyptians mummified the dead bodies. The brain and all organs except the heart were removed; the body was soaked in salt and nacron. Finally, it was wrapped in many bandages. Outside, painted covers were added. Our picture shows the elaborate mummy of King Tutankhamen, with a head mask of beaten gold. Mummies were often enclosed in a coffin (lower right) which was itself carved and painted. We show some objects found in King Tut's tomb: a dagger and a handsome drinking cup made of alabaster.

White, Negro Students Live, Learn Together

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — The initial phase of a program in which 65 white and Negro high school students lived together at an expensive boardwalk hotel has ended on an optimistic note.

The students agreed that both races can live and learn together.

"It was great," said a 16-year-old white student, Cathy Potler. "It made the kids look at people as individuals, and got a chance to talk with kids with lots of different backgrounds.

"I don't think they understood the young blacks of America. The project helped us to understand one another," Roberta said.

The experiment, called Project Will, is aimed at solving racial problems at Atlantic City High School, where police have patrolled the corridors to prevent clashes between white and Negro youths.

The 65 youths, from the city's Negro slums and white bedroom suburbs, have eaten, talked and done their homework together for two months at the Traymore Hotel after returning from classes each day. They went home on weekends.

The students, equally divided between white and Negro, stayed in fourth-floor rooms, girls in one wing and boys in another. They shared rooms with someone of the opposite race, and a teacher-counselor was available at all times.

With the first half over, the parents and teachers are now attending workshops to evaluate the program. The students return to the hotel Feb. 24.

Project director Edgar Harris, who is also president of the local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said he hopes the 65 youths will take their experiences and lessons they shared to the other 2,800 high school students and act as a catalyst for changes there.

"They feel the project has given them an opportunity to discuss things they want to talk about," Harris said.

In the final half of the experiment, the students will have more of a voice in the composition of the program. Harris said the students already turned down two teachers as counselors and suggested there be fewer chaperones.

As for the hotel itself, a Traymore executive said the regular guests did not mind the youngsters being there.

Watts' Negroes Help In California Mud Cleanup

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When the ranging downpours finally let up this week after nine days of almost continuous rain, actress Neva Patterson stepped out of her home for a look at possible damage.

She was shocked.

The house itself was intact but a sea of mud and debris covered the driveway and front yard.

"I started to worry about how I could ever get dug out," she said today, "when these unbelievable people showed up."

The "unbelievable people" were Negroes from the Watts Labor Community Action Committee, founded four years ago —after the devastating riots—to provide training and work for thousands of underprivileged Negroes. All volunteers, they brought their own shovels to attack the mud.

Miss Patterson's home is located along Mandeville Canyon Road, a picturesque zig-zag which skirts steep canyon walls down to Hollywood's famed Sunset Boulevard.

As one of the Watts' residents, Ellsworth Freeman, put it: "This is a white area, but people from here have helped us in the past with contributions for our projects. This was our chance to repay them."

The crew attacking the mud at Miss Paterson's home was supervised by Henry Franklin, a quiet man in his 40s. As the score or so men packed their gear, Miss Patterson, a character actress best known for her role as David's mother in the film "David and Lisa," asked him:

"How much do I owe you?"

There were many similar replied. "Just remember our committee and our projects."

There were many similar reports.

Dr. Jesse H. Frank lives a few doors down the street. He called the Watts volunteers "a fantastic group—I've never seen anybody work as hard as these men."

A rushing sea of mud and boulders hit Frank's house during the storm, wrecking just about every bit of furniture. Rocks and mud settled in every room, plate glass doors and windows were demolished.

"These people have been an eye opener for me" said Frank, "and the whole city should be proud of the men from Watts. They have been very careful and saved a lot of our belongings."

Not all the Negroes refused pay, of course. For example, Reginald Simms, 18, said, "I'm here for the money. It's a job for me but I'm glad if it helps."

Speaking for the Watts Labor Community Action Committee, Ted Watkins, the group's chairman, said the clean up volunteers regarded their efforts "as part of our continuing work to provide jobs for our people."

The committee directs its efforts to showing Negroes how to develop skills that enable them to find permanent jobs.

"The white community has helped us and encouraged us," said Watkins. "It's only logical that we now lend a hand to them."

Farm Bureau Begins Drive

LISBON — The Columbiana County Farm Bureau launched its annual membership drive Thursday night at Mt. Nebo Grange Hall.

The 1969 signup to date is 535, leaving 127 to be enrolled to reach the county goal of 662 member families.

Galen Greenisen of Salem RD 3, president, said the drive will last 10 days. He introduced Blake Gerber, regional supervisor.

Frischkorn divided the county into western and eastern districts for competition and appointed Mr. and Mrs. Leonard West and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Neville for the east.

Edison Sets May Vote On Bond Issue

The Edison Local School District has filed a resolution with the Jefferson County board of elections to submit a proposed $4,246,000 bond issue in the May primary for two new elementary schools and improvements to existing facilities.

The proposed issue would be for 22 years.

Supt. C. P. Henderson said the present buildings in the school district are overcrowded, with more than 260 students housed in facilities other than regular classrooms.

He said there is no space available for special education classes or other important elements for a proper curriculum, and added in many instances, improvements are required to meet new state minimum standards.

He said, the new elementary buildings will be organized on what is commonly known as "middle schools." "A feature of the new buildings will be open space to some degree, which is a departure from the conventional buildings. The buildings will lend themselves to more flexibility, programed instruction, flexible scheduling, laboratory facilities, team teaching and a host of other newer media."

"Upon completion of this program, the board of education will be able to offer to the students of the district a vastly improved and enriched program equal to that found anywhere."

Bloodmobile Obtains 134 Pints At Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — A total of 134 pints of blood was donated by area residents during a visit of the Cleveland Red Cross Bloodmobile here Thursday. The quota was 125 pints.

E. J. Linsley, chairman, said 26 donors "walked in" for the visit at the Centenary United Methodist Church in addition to those who previously had registered. He said 18 pints of blood were used in recent months for two young district burn victims.

A knotted string was used as a measuring device in building Egypt's Great Pyramid. It was so accurate that modern instruments show only ½-inch error along one 775-foot side.

Farm Bureau Begins Drive

LISBON — The Columbiana County Farm Bureau launched its annual membership drive Thursday night at Mt. Nebo Grange Hall.

Chairman Herbert Frischkorn of Wellsville RD 1 and campaign captains and workers confidently set a victory dinner for Feb. 21 at the hall.

The 1969 signup to date is 535, leaving 127 to be enrolled to reach the county goal of 662 member families.

Galen Greenisen of Salem RD 3, president, said the drive will last 10 days. He introduced Blake Gerber, regional supervisor.

Farm Bureau board members in the various townships will serve as captains.

Frischkorn divided the county into western and eastern districts for competition and appointed Mr. and Mrs. Leonard West and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Neville for the east.

Edison Sets May Vote On Bond Issue

The Edison Local School District has filed a resolution with the Jefferson County board of elections to submit a proposed $4,246,000 bond issue in the May primary for two new elementary schools and improvements to existing facilities.

The proposed issue would be for 22 years.

Supt. C. P. Henderson said the present buildings in the school district are overcrowded, with more than 260 students housed in facilities other than regular classrooms.

He said there is no space available for special education classes or other important elements for a proper curriculum, and added in many instances, improvements are required to meet new state minimum standards.

He said, the new elementary buildings will be organized on what is commonly known as "middle schools." "A feature of the new buildings will be open space to some degree, which is a departure from the conventional buildings. The buildings will lend themselves to more flexibility, programed instruction, flexible scheduling, laboratory facilities, team teaching and a host of other newer media."

"Upon completion of this program, the board of education will be able to offer to the students of the district a vastly improved and enriched program equal to that found anywhere."

Bloodmobile Obtains 134 Pints At Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — A total of 134 pints of blood was donated by area residents during a visit of the Cleveland Red Cross Bloodmobile here Thursday. The quota was 125 pints.

E. J. Linsley, chairman, said 26 donors "walked in" for the visit at the Centenary United Methodist Church in addition to those who previously had registered. He said 18 pints of blood were used in recent months for two young district burn victims.
